Mounties In New Orders Stop Jobless

By SAM G. ROSS

REGINA, June 27.—Charges of intimidation by strikers came from two official sources today as reports gained strength Royal Canadian Mounted Police would attempt to prevent 2,000 relief camp strikers moving out of Regina for Winnipeg by truck enroute to Ottawa. The charges were made by S. T. Wood, assistant commissioner of Royal Canadian Mounted Police, and C. P. Burgess, in charge of federal relief administration here.

REGINA, June 27.—Royal Canadian Mounted Police, it was reported in reliable circles today, will stop the trek by truck of striking relief camp workers to Winnipeg, next scheduled stop on their march to Ottawa. Attempting to dodge federal orders banning riding on freight trains, the strikers called for trucks and automobiles to transport them to Winnipeg. Several offers were being received at Unity Centre, which the strikers have been using as a headquarters.

Arthur Evans, one of the strike leaders, said the strikers were prepared to hire the trucks and automobiles for the trek if they could get them at reasonable rates. Two thousand men from British Columbia, Alberta and Saskatchewan are in the encampment here and would have to be provided with transportation.

The strikers planned to leave Regina for Winnipeg today, but whether the trek by truck would start then or later in the day had not been decided, striking leaders planned to move out of Regina before nightfall.

Special squads of the 500 R. C. M. P. gathered here were at the exhibition grounds, but how many was indefinite.

Assistant Commissioner R. T. Wood of the R. C. M. P. pointed out traffic regulations of the province require trucks carrying passengers must have permits. "Those permits may be insisted upon," said the commissioner.

The public utilities board, in charge of administration of highway traffic regulations in Saskatchewan, said hiring of trucks for transportation of persons was a violation of traffic regulations.

A truck owner, however, could carry passengers providing he did not charge any fees. No immediate ruling was made on whether the strikers' plans would violate traffic regulations.

TREK LEADER GIVEN $500

REGINA, June 27.—Arthur Evans, one of the leaders of the striking relief camp workers, today said he was "kidnapped and handed $500 in cash and taken for a ride around Regina by a Regina business man."

Refusing to divulge the identity of the "Regina businessman," Evans said he was given the money in 50 $10 bills "to help the boys to Ottawa."

Evans said he was telephoned at Unity Centre and told to meet a car at the corner. He got in and was whisked away on the drive through the city, during which he was given the money. The money, said Evans, would go to the funds of the strikers.

BENITO BOUND TO WAGE WAR

By GEORGE HAMBLETON

LONDON, June 27.—Events move increasingly towards war between Italy and Ethiopia.

Reflection on the result of the conversations between Anthony Eden, minister for League of Nations affairs, and Premier Benito Mussolini in Rome has done nothing to remove earlier pessimism. Official circles are mute. But the prevailing opinion is Mussolini is determined to go ahead at all costs.

"Things have now gone so far," says a Rome dispatch to the Daily Telegraph, "nothing short of a military protectorate on the Moroccan model can serve the three main points dear to the Italian heart."

GARDINER TO REFUSE FOOD FOR STRIKERS

Sees No Reason Why Saskatchewan Should Provide for Unemployed

REGINA, June 27.—Resulting from telegrams exchanged with Prime Minister R. B. Bennett at Ottawa, Premier J. G. Gardiner of Saskatchewan today refused to provide rations for 2,000 striking relief camp workers if they continue to remain in Regina.

Prime Minister Bennett's telegram to the Saskatchewan premier said food and shelter awaited the men at Lumsden camp, 30 miles north of here, pending arrangements for their return to their homes.

Premier Gardiner's wire read:

"Marchers here had one meal today. They have appealed to us for food. We would understand from information received you have taken full responsibility for these men and intend to force them into camps. We fear the result if both parties continue to present attitude. Do you desire these men fed in Regina for another day?"

Prime Minister Bennett's reply read:

"In accordance with statement made by me in House of Commons, federal government has provided camp in vicinity of Regina, equipped to supply food and shelter to all strike marchers who desire to avail themselves of these facilities. Transportation to the camp is available.

"There is no reason why the province of Saskatchewan should be called upon to carry responsibility in connection with the feeding and care of these people."

TOT IS KILLED, HUNG BY HEAD

MUNDARE, June 27—Strangling to death when she hung suspended from the end of a wagon, her head caught between the boards and the floor of the wagon, Annie Lazarenke, 4, living 6½ miles west of Mundare, died at 3 p.m. yesterday.

The child had been playing on the wagon. Apparently losing her hold, as she attempted to climb out of the small aperture between the box-end and the wagon, she slipped, her head catching in the opening.

Seeing the child dangling in mid-air, the child's father rushed to her and removed her. Dr. N. C. Strilchuk was called from Mundare but the child was dead on his arrival.

HITLER EDICT PUTS END TO ALL LIBERTY

BERLIN, June 27.—Dictatorial decrees went into effect today shaping anew the lives of all Germans without giving them a chance either to approve or protest. Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler's "rubber stamp" cabinet, meeting four days before the first anniversary of the bloody June 30 Nazi "purge," adopted these measures.

1. Making labor camp service compulsory for 200,000 young men and 100,000 young women annually.

2. Demanding everyone in Germany, even foreigners domiciled here, participate actively in air protection exercises.

3. Authorizing revision of the penal code "in the light of national socialistic tenets" and regulating trials.

4. Regulating official salaries.

5. Speeding up investigation of preliminary sterilization "in order to prevent unsound progeny."

6. Encouraging establishment of people's gardens and homesteads.

7. Empowering Bernhard Rust, Prussian commissioner for culture and education, to deal with the church controversy.

Other lesser decrees were adopted, all but the Labor service measure being published in the official gazette.

Not since the "blood purge" has Adolf Hitlerism made such a show of dictatorial powers, and it seemed agreed the far-reaching de-

KIDNAP THUG HUNTED MAN IN EDMONTON

William Mahan, Brains of Gang, Sought in This District

Apparently working with the knowledge that William Mahan, ex-convict, reputed gunman and the "brains" of the Weyerhauser kidnaping, is in or near Edmonton, an intensive man-hunt is now under way in this area, special attention being given to dance resorts in and near the city.

Mahan eluded police in Butte, Montana, but in his getaway was forced to leave a car and about $19,000 of the ransom money. He is believed to have the rest of his share of over $190,000 with him and police now believe that he managed to get north across the international boundary line into Alberta.

DANCE DEVOTEE

Mahan is known to have a liking for summer resorts when in hiding and to be a devotee of the dance, and as a result police are watching the Edmonton district closely and have been checking up on cars coming in from nearby dance halls at local summer resorts.

Several cars have been stopped at nights recently and the occupants forced to identify themselves.

"We are looking for this fellow Mahan. He is likely to get himself a girl and he has a bankering for these summer resort dances," was the explanation given by one police official.

Every summer resort in the district is being combed and police are also paying attention to downtown dance halls.

BANKER FLAYS BANK SALARIES

LONDON, June 27.—The customary calm of the annual meeting of the stockholders of the Bank of British West Africa was broken today when T. G. Edwards, secretary of the Bank Officers' Guild, roundly criticized the bank's salary policy.

"It appears the male staff is unable to marry until between 35 and 40 on account of the low salary figures," Edwards contended. "At the normal marrying age, 27 to 28, the average salary paid in England by this bank is less than £200 yearly. How can the staff maintain the status we expect of them?"

AUTEUIL, France, June 27.—The most eccentric fashions France has seen in years appeared at the hurdle race which marks the apex of Grande Semaine—the "grand racing week" which winds up the Parisian social season.

Racing enthusiasts' eyes bulged when they saw women with their various heads of hair dyed blue, violet, mauve, and rich copper to match their frocks or accessories at the track yesterday.

One Parisienne's was dyed to match her vivid blue costume, another wore an un-tanned-copper make-up to match her Titian red hair.

Detailed information respecting Mr. McFarland's operations for the government with a view to supporting the wheat market, was given by Mr. Findlay.

Laval Would Talk Peace With Hitler

PARIS, June 27. — Premier Pierre Laval declared last night he was willing to negotiate with Adolf Hitler on a "peace arrangement" for submission to all European powers, if it appeared "really possible."

"If the eventualities of a Franco-German agreement, which would respect the integrity of all powers, appear really possible soon," the premier told the senate foreign affairs committee, he "would not hesitate to do his duty in favor of general peace and reconstruction of Europe."

Laval's statement concerned a previous remark at a press banquet that, "if an accord became possible with Berlin it would not hesitate to conclude it but for such an accord to come about it must not be between two but among several" (powers).

Hitler's offer of Germany's "Peace Plan" to Europe without any territorial demands in his recent Reichstag speech, Laval indicated, inspired his remarks.

GERMANY EYES LOST COLONIES

NEW YORK, June 27.—The New York Times today quotes the diplomatic correspondent of the London Morning Post as saying the question of the return of German colonies may shortly be brought up again.

Britain Taken To Task For Its German Consent

BREST, France, June 27.—Francois Piétri, minister of the navy, today called Britain's "precipitous consent" to Germany's rearmament a "grave event" and said it "may cause us to doubt, not her friendship, but her traditional prudence." France, he said, plans to build more battleships as soon as the Washington treaty ends December 31, 1936.

MARCHERS TO RESUME TREK ON HIGHWAYS

obtained by the strike leaders and it was estimated between 75 and 100 would be required to transport the men.

The registration office opened by the federal authorities to facilitate removal of strikers from the city to Lumsden Camp, 30 miles north of here, and then to other homes, was open again today but so far the strikers have boycotted it.

CHARGE INTIMIDATION

Intimidation of men from the ranks of strikers who wanted to register at the federal registration office to go to the temporary camp at Lumsden, 30 miles north of here, was charged by both Commissioner Wood and Mr. Burgess. The camp at Lumsden was established as a clearing house to receive the strikers who wanted to go back to their homes.

Several men have registered up to noon today, said Mr. Burgess. Several were standing around the registration office at the exhibition grounds, he said. They were acting as pickets to prevent registration. Two of their men who had registered were prevented from going back into the strikers' quarters to get their packs, said Mr. Burgess.

Commissioner Wood said police had received complaints of men being bothered from getting their packs at the strikers' quarters. He said no move would be made by police to remove pickets, as the pickets had not yet actively interfered with anyone.

WORKERS EXHORTED

In a typewritten notice, Mr. Burgess said it had been established three Regina members of the Young Communist League and a Saskatoon man had visited the Lumsden camp and distributed hand bills from the Dominion camp and were inciting the Lumsden camp in readiness to receive the Regina strikers.

"The wording of the bills was designed to exhort the workers not to build camps against their 'comrades' and were no doubt intended to intimidate the workers from Dundurn," the notice said. About 250 men from the Dundurn camp recently joined the on to Ottawa trek of relief camp strikers here.

EVANS ANNOUNCES

Arthur Evans, one of the strike leaders and a spokesman when the strikers' delegation interviewed the Federal government at Ottawa, announced plans to resort to trucks and automobiles to dodge a claim which guards on the Canadian board freight trains were made.

Six thousand people gathered at a meeting in the stadium to back the right to hear Evans and others report on the futile negotiations with the federal Government and Bro. S. B. East dropped the first hint of the plan to hire trucks and automobiles for the Ottawa trek. He called for a large collection to meet heavy expenses. When the collection was taken, it totalled $1,965.65.

URGES SUPPORT

How much it will cost for the strikers to charter trucks and automobiles for the journey was not definite. Besides asking for cash donations Evans and other strike leaders looked for owners of trucks to offer loan them to the strikers or go along as drivers. He voiced appreciation of public support given and urged still greater support.

"It would be foolish for us to accept the gauntlet thrown down by the federal authorities and challenge the forces of the state," said Evans when referring to the federal ban on riding freight trains. "But we are going to Ottawa with your help just the same.

RECRUITS AT PEG

"Yes," he added, "we are going out of this town. We need trucks and drivers. The Winnipeg end of the forces will be augmented to a great extent. We hope the trucks will be there when we arrive at Regina. Our determination to go to Ottawa is every bit as great today as when we left Vancouver, Kamloops, Calgary and Regina.

NONE WENT TO CAMP

Three interviews with the Saskatchewan government and two interviews with relief officials were held yesterday in an attempt to win aid in leaving Regina.

Not one man registered for the camp awaiting them at Lumsden, 30 miles north of here.

It was established by the federal government that trains would be held until arrangements could be made to transport them to their homes.

FED THEMSELVES

The strikers stopped into their funds for their meals yesterday. Declining meal tickets awaiting them at the relief office, they had issued their own meal tickets which were redeemed in cash from the contributions made by the public. The funds were obtained through tag days held in Vancouver, Kamloops, Calgary, Edmonton and Regina.

FASCISM CHARGED

"Can you all put up a dollar to help these men to Ottawa," Mr. Earl Rowe asked the meeting last night. He said Prime Minister R. B. Bennett had "abrogated the constitution" and was "virtually making martial law." He charged the Prime Minister with seeking to establish fascism in Canada and "is with himself as dictator."

"Do you want Fascism?" he asked. "If you don't then pay the price and help these men to Ottawa where they will help you, help me and our fight too. We must fight on for a new system, a true living wage of God," he declared.

COUNTRY ORGANIZING

J. Walsh, one of the delegation that went to Ottawa, described the welcome given the delegation as it passed through cities en route from to Ottawa. Workers were organizing throughout Canada and unemployed were fighting to improve their conditions, he declared.

COTTON DROPS LEAD IN GOLF TO WHITCOMBE

Veteran British Ryder Cup Player Cards 36-Hole Total of 139

By GAYLE TALBOT

MUIRFIELD, Scotland, June 27.—Battling a stiff head wind that at times reached gale strength, Henry Cotton, the defending titleholder, yielded the lead today in the second round of the 72-hole British open golf championship to Charles A. Whitcombe, 40-year-old veteran British Ryder cup team player.

Starting early and escaping the rolstering wind that blew up later, Whitcombe covered the Muirfield layout in 68—four under par—for a 36-hole aggregate of 139, while Cotton went out in 35 and then faltered badly on the greens, taking an incoming 39 for a 74 and a total of 142—good for a tie for second place with Alf. Padgham, a British professional.

MAC SMITH FALTERS

After a glittering first round 69 Macdonald Smith, the Glendale, Calif., veteran, took a second round 72 for a total of 141. He is now bracketed at that figure with William Lawson Little Jr., San Francisco, who added a 71 to his previous 73.

With 153 the borderline, 62 players qualified for the double-round stretch drive tomorrow.

STALWARTS SURVIVE

Among them were such stalwarts as Ernest Kenyon of Britain with 70-74—144; Aubrey Boomer of France, with 76-68—145; Archie Compson with 75-74—149; Henry Picard of Hershey, Pa., with 72-73—145; R. A. Whitcombe with 75-75—150; Syd Easterbrook with 78-73—148, and Ernest Whitcombe with 75-72—147.

Finds Treatment For Winter Kill On Golf Courses

Good news for golfers.

The bogey of winter kill for fairways and greens is approaching its doom.

W. C. Broadfoot, of the University of Alberta, himself an ardent golfer, reported to a meeting of the Edmonton Horticultural Society on the local campus Wednesday that a treatment of four parts calcined zinc and one part sulphate of iron, applied before freezing has proven effective against the destruction of grass by frost. The chemicals should be thoroughly mixed and applied by hand before being applied to turf.

Winter kill is a serious problem in Alberta due to prevailing frigid temperatures in the cold months.

Mussolini Gets Own Eye Blacked

SIGNOR MUSSOLINI

Is here shown sporting a "honey" of a black eye which he received during a recent ride when he was struck by a branch while horseback riding. Though strict orders were issued not to make pictures of the dictator's "shiner", the enterprising cameraman evidently disregarded orders and obtained this unusual shot.

WILL ATTEMPT RESTORE NORTH TRAIN SERVICE

Crews comprising more than 100 men, many of them from Edmonton, have been working on washouts and dangers to the line on its curve around the south shore of the lake. Reports from work-trains Thursday said 250,000 acres of rich farm lands have been submerged, leaving only the tops of many wrecked buildings above the swirling flood tides. Crops are ruined and livestock breeders face a shortage of fodder, it was stated.

HIGHWAY UNDER WATER

Peace River highway in the flooded district is entirely under water and flat bottomed scows were transporting north and south of the submerged line, the Northern Alberta Motor Association reported Thursday. Construction work on the highway since last spring has been brought to a dead halt.

Many passengers who returned to Edmonton on the Peace River bound train that left the city Monday to be turned back by the flood, were passengers on the train that left Thursday. Spoederd trailers, and team-drawn wagons were called into service by postal authorities to distribute 35 sacks of mail taken north by the Monday train.

Many vigorous protests are being registered by residents of the districts area against lack of action by the federal government in combatting the flood.

Delegate Removed From Agric Meet

An unaccredited delegate was removed from the Wednesday afternoon meeting of the Canadian Society of Technical Agriculturists at the University of Alberta for disorderly conduct.

The disorderly one, a trim fox terrier, was late in arriving at the meeting and tried to sneak into rostrum to say a few words while Hon. J. G. Taggart, minister of agriculture, was officially welcoming and speaking. Foiled in this attempt, he took a nap in the main aisle, and awakened sufficiently at the conclusion of Mr. Taggart's address to joined vigorously in the acclaim by barking loudly.

The terrier was removed as a result of a motion by Secretary H. L. Trueman.

It was a motion worthy of a lion tamer—swift and true.

U.S. Davis Cup Star Eliminated at Wimbledon by Fred Perry

LONDON, June 27.—Fred Perry, England's ace tennis player, eliminated John Van Ryn of East Orange, N.J., in the feature match of the Wimbledon tennis tournament today.

The score was 4-6, 6-1, 6-3, 10-8. Perry overdrove at first and let Van Ryn work his way to the net for some smashing kills. He tightened up thereafter however.

U.S. GIRLS WIN

The two chief United States threats, Helen Jacobs and Mrs. Helen Wills Moody, both won their matches. Helen Jacobs had a stiff fight to oust Rollin Couquerque of Holland, 6-4, 5-7, 6-4, after losing with a damaged finger. Mrs. Moody easily defeated Adeline Yorke, English girl, in a first round match, 6-3, 6-1.

Jean Hardwick, junior and senior champion combined well in the first set but Miss Young was unable to keep pace with Miss Deacon drove and volleyed brilliantly. She was most severe on overhead play.

In the singles Miss Deacon continued to play well, but her pace was erratic, missing several easy handicaps.

H. W. Bunny Austin, English Davis Cup player, eliminated H. Muszanne of South Africa, 6-3, 6-0, 1-6, 6-0.

On A Bicycle Built For Three

With cycling becoming increasingly popular in the Old Country as the weather daily grows warmer, the problem of what to do with Master Baby, crops up. It is solved in a perfect manner, however, by this Inverness cyclist and his wife, who built a tiny sidecar for their bicycle in which the child sits with comfort enjoying the fresh air and countryside. A glass windshield protects the child from dust and dirt. The photo is from Inverness, Scotland.

SUBPOENA OF IKE SOLLOWAY AIRED IN COURT

Counsel for Broker Objects To Correction Made By Stenographer

TORONTO, June 27.—Counsel for J. W. C. Solloway Wednesday charged a subpoena demanding attendance of the former brokerage house executive at the hearing of an application for a declaration he had misspapied funds of Solloway, Mills and Co., had been altered.

Arthur C. Sisghi, Solloway's counsel, told O. B. Lennox, stenographer of the Supreme Court, the subpoena had been altered after the affidavit of service had been shown as W. J. P. Jenner, counsel for the liquidator of Solloway, Mills and Company, sought a certificate of service of the subpoena to Solloway.

Mr. Jenner wanted the certificate "so proper application could be made to the court to compel Mr. Solloway's attendance as a witness." He said the alteration had been made inadvertently by a stenographer.

"I shall issue a certificate putting all the facts before the court," said Mr. Lennox.

ROCKIES NO OBSTACLE TO THIS POOCH

Pat, the pattering pooch, is home again in Edmonton.

Pat is a fox terrier, whose home-loving instincts overcame the obstacles of the lofty Canadian Rockies.

Last winter Alex Tennant, blacksmith at 103 avenue and 182 street, presented Pat, with collar attached, to Frank Mainfroid of the Richelieu hotel. Mr. Mainfroid took the doggie with him to Nelson, B.C., last March. He in turn presented Pat to a resident of the Kootenay Lake district. Feeling sure that Pat would soon become accustomed to the "dog-gy" ways of the B.C. terrain, Mr. Mainfroid came home.

Last sunday he heard a whine and a scratch at the door of his room.

He opened the door. There was Pat, looking dog-tired and hungry.

Whether Pat pattered all the way from Nelson, or hitch-hiked will remain a mystery as Pat is not a talking dog.

It is suggested, however, that Pat may have decided to join the On-to-Ottawa trek and after missing the train, set out on foot to, his old home.

He's going to stay home with his old master from now on.

Toronto Man Is New Human Slate

TORONTO, June 27.—Toronto has a human slate.

He is John Darch, 17, whose skin responds to a stick in the same way a blackboard responds to chalk.

Take a stick and write on John, and what is written takes visible shape in the form of a welt that can be felt when a finger is passed over it. How long the writing remains depends on the pressure applied.

Orders for groceries never bother him. He just jots them down on his epidermis.

228,562,000 BUSHELS GRAIN HELD FOR SALE

nent stated Mr. McFarland's holdings were in the vicinity of 228,000,000 bushels. Mr. Bennett is chairman of the committee, studying the bill to create a Dominion grain board.

Before calling Mr. Findlay today he read a telegram from Mr. McFarland in which the latter urged that no investigation of his operations or allegations against his procedure be heard until he is able to appear personally. He has been ill.

BENNETT'S STAND

Mr. Bennett had taken the stand on examination of Mr. McFarland's activities should go forward until the latter was available to answer for himself, and promised a royal commission later if it were desired.

It was difficult to fix the exact date when the Pool stopped operations, the witness explained, but by the end of the Pool's fiscal year, Aug. 31, 1931, was accepted as the term of the cut-off, then Mr. McFarland took over 76,728,000 bushels of Pool wheat and the surplus pilfered up on government account since then was 151,834,000 bushels.

Witness preferred not to give the present cost of the Pool wheat because he said it would be manifestly unfair to the Pools. In the bookkeeping of the wheat sold since Aug. 31, 1931, had been considered wheat bought since that date so the Pools' surplus on the books was still intact and charged with the carrying charges of all those years.

COST PER BUSHEL

The cost per bushel of the wheat bought since McFarland took over on the government's account was 79.001 cents.

Mr. Findlay then explained to the committee the workings of the Winnipeg Exchange clearing house.

Net liabilities for both pool and special account ranged from $746,009 to $33,000,000 over the period from July 31, 1931, to June 1, 1933, varying up and down from time to time. Then on Sept. 31, 1933, there was a surplus of $9,219,000, and surpluses ranging between $39,656,000 down to $5,562,000 were shown until Sept. 30, 1933, when the surplus was again in the red to the tune of $12,756. This has increased to $18,859 at the end of December, 1933.

The hearing was adjourned to meet again later this afternoon.

BALLOTING FOR NEW BRUNSWICK NOW GOING ON

SAINT JOHN, N.B., June 27.—The battle of ballots began in New Brunswick today at 9 a.m. M.S.T. At 12 p.m. the polls will close, counting will start, and some hours later it will be known if the votes have satisfied the Conservative government of Hon. L. P. D. Tilley or declared in favor of the Liberal party under A. A. Dysart.

A total of 98 candidates in 17 constituencies entered the contest on today's polling. Two independents in Madawaska county were the only exception to straight fights between Conservatives and Liberals. A woman candidate, Miss Frances L. Fish, runs on the government ticket in Northumberland.

When the Conservatives returned to power in 1930 they had 31 seats against 17 for the Liberals. At three subsequent by-elections government candidates gained one and retained two. The party standing at dissolution May 2 was Conservatives 28, Liberals 14, with seven vacancies.

PROTECTING NEWS STARTS CONTROVERSY

International Commerce Chamber Group Hears Proposals Upon Press

PARIS, June 27—The problem of protection for sources and dissemination of news Wednesday gave rise to considerable controversy in the juridical group studying it at the eighth congress of the international chamber of commerce.

M. Coppieters, reporter for the group, enumerated the principles of his preliminary measure on the subject as follow:

1—Liberty of the press. It is indispensable that the greatest possible diffusion be given news, but there should be no monopoly over news and no unfair profiting on the work of others.

2. It is necessary to protest news against such a danger as this; suppose a news-gathering agency sends special correspondents a great expense to some part of the world. News transmitted by these representatives might be intercepted and published before it reached the agency's clients. It is absolutely necessary to take action against such abuses.

3. News of an official nature should not be given exclusively to any person or organization.

4. News once published still deserves protection but it is impossible to establish for what length of time to grant the different cutsons in various countries.

5. Reproduction of news following the drafting of the International protection should be accompanied by an indication of its source.

(2) To refer the decision upon the reporter's brief, the juridical group, at the suggestion of its president, decided:

(2) To repeat the decisions taken by the congress of Vienna relative to the protection of news;

(2) To transmit to each national committee of the International Chamber of Commerce the specimen bill drawn up by M. Coppieters.

HITLER EDICT PUT END TO ALL LIBERTIES

cisions would tighten even more Nazidom's hold on Germany.

The labor conscription law, while it mentioned no specific limits, announced the class of 1915 would be called first and volunteers 18 years old or older accepted.

200,000 STRENGTH

It provided the total labor service strength on Sept. 30, 1936, would approximate 200,000, meaning the first class will finish its service within the year.

The entire national project for combating unemployment, the labor service also gets much work done strongly.

Another measure provided all Germans must receive instructions in air defence.

YOUTH JOINS FIRST

Young men will be enrolled first in the labor organization but the number of girls in the service will soon be raised to 100,000. A general conscription of youths for labor service will take place between now and August.

This service, in which young men and women will help farmers and perform other work while living on farms and camps, is regarded as an assault on unemployment and is considered in some respects to military conscription.

WORK FOR ALL

Through these two measures Nazidom hopes it will be able with-in a few months to announce fulfilment of its goal to provide work and bread for everyone.

SOCIAL CREDIT PLAN CRUSHED IN OTTAWA HOUSE

RED DEER U.F.A. MEMBER PROPOSAL SPEEDILY SUNK

Combined Negative Roar Drowns Speakman Proposal Along Social Credit Fundamentals.

OTTAWA, June 27.—Social Credit flashed across the federal political stage for a few brief minutes Wednesday but was crushed under the combined voting strength of Liberals and Conservatives in the House of Commons.

Alfred Speakman, United Farmer member for Red Deer, proposed a motion to reorganize the financial system along Social Credit lines, the dominion assuming control of public credit, financing public works with printed money and social dividends to all persons at the age of 60 to increase the purchasing power of the nation.

THUNDEROUS NO

Speaker J. L. Bowman put the motion to the house and it was drowned under a thunderous wave of "No's."

The Red Deer member claimed there were no valid arguments against reorganization of the financial system if Canada ever hoped to regain normalcy. He said he could not give technical details of necessary changes but he suggested no one else could either because of incongruity.

INDUSTRIAL HATRED

Various schools of financial reform in Canada headed by McGeer, Douglas and Aberhart were the greatest obstacles to financial reform, Mr. Speakman said. "Sometimes they hate each other worse than they hate the common enemy. They are more eager to establish the downfall of the other than they are of the present financial system." He suggested they stop quarreling among themselves over details and attack the common objective.

—OR COMMUNISM

Mr. Speakman presented two possible alternatives to financial reform—communism or social credit. He claimed Canada could not contribute from the majority of its people impoverished in the midst of plenty all their lives—their purchasing power must be stepped up.

REPORT GETS ENDORSATION OF VETERANS

Basic Principles of Hyndman Commission Report Approved

Taking the view that recommendations contained in the Hyndman Commission report goes a considerable distance toward bettering the lot of returned soldiers, approximately 250 ex-servicemen at a meeting in the Memorial Hall Wednesday endorsed the basic principles of the report.

A resolution, passed after the report had been explained, clause by clause, by A. Walker, Alberta representative on the Dominion executive, Canadian Legion, B.E.S.L., is as follows:

THE RESOLUTION

"Resolved that this meeting of ex-servicemen, held in Edmonton under the auspices of the Canadian Legion, approve of the basic principles of the Hyndman Commission report and request that the recommendations be implemented by legislation at the present session.

"Be it further resolved that the federal government inquire into committee inquiring into ex-servicemans' conditions to further continue their inquiries into the question of providing facilities for ex-servicemen and their dependents and also to put in force recommendation to the question of materially increasing the food allowance of dependents."

The resolution was moved by I. Stewart-Irvine and seconded by Fred Deer.

GAIN MATERIALLY

While disappointment was expressed by several present at certain clauses in the report of Mr. Justice Hyndman, the meeting on the whole adopted the attitude that veterans, as a body, would gain materially if the report became law. It was felt that in the case where an individual lost slightly, that this was more than offset by the benefit to former soldiers as a body.

Col. Louis Scott, D.C.M., acted as chairman. A hearty vote of thanks was moved Mr. Walker at the conclusion of the meeting.

On the platform with the chairman and Mr. Walker were Maj. R. W. Hale and Col. T. C. Simms. V.D.

U.S. Crews Which Joined B.C. Strike Fired At Vancouver

VANCOUVER, June 27. — Crews of two American freighters were dismissed last night and the ships ordered tied up as a result of Vancouver's unsettled waterfront situation. Twenty members of the crew of the American mail line freighter Shelton were paid off and given bus transportation to Seattle, their home port. The action was taken, agents for the line here said, because the men refused to keep up the duties necessary for unloading operations here and also refused to work the vessel at Powell River, B.C.

Both this port and Powell river have been declared unfair by the District Waterfront Workers' Association while the embargo is sent on strike-bound ships.

The Shelton's cargo of 500 tons of peanuts from the Orient was unloaded by members of the Canadian Waterfront Workers' Association strike-breaking organization, with the use of dock cranes. The ship was then towed to the terminal dock and tied up.

ANOTHER CREW TODAY

The entire crew of the Kingsley Navigation Company's Texada will be paid off this morning, company officials said last night. Eleven men, including the captain, senior officers and two mess boys will receive their transportation to San Francisco but the remainder, 14 seamen and firemen, will be given transportation to Blaine, Wash., only.

PETITIONED CONSUL

Tom Hughes, spokesman for the Texada's crew, said the crew was ordered paid off after they had asked to see the American consul with regard to moving United States citizens onto a barricaded dock with a possible necessity in case of rioting.

The ship, which arrived here 10 days ago, discharged 2,000 barrels of oil on the north shore, then shifted here with 1,000 tons of general cargo, to be unloaded at Ballantyne pier which has been barricaded and is patrolled by police guard following last week's riots.

BROWNLEE IS U.F.A. CHOICE FOR PONOKA

Only Name Submitted To Nominating Convention —Grain Bill Endorsed

PONOKA, June 27.—J. E. Brownlee, ex-premier of Alberta, was nominated U.F.A. candidate for the forthcoming provincial election to represent the Ponoka constituency here Wednesday.

He was the only nominee, and therefore nominated by acclamation. Mrs. Mellish of Rimbey nominated Mr. Brownlee while G. Spettum moved nominations cease. E. Patenaude seconded this motion. Mr. Brownlee was then greeted with a burst of applause.

The nominee gave a short address in which he declared that for one time in his life he felt difficulty in expressing himself. He stated that from reasons the people well understood he debated whether he should accept the nomination.

CAMPAIGN PROMISED

"If you had seen fit to appoint some one else in my place I would not have stood in the way, but would have given my whole support, as my only desire is to see Ponoka again won by a U.F.A. candidate. I will carry this campaign with all my strength and support, and I hope you will feel justified after the outcome of my nomination," he said.

Councillor Neil W. Nelson gave a welcoming address to the gates of the convention in the absence of Mayor W. J. Deville. The convention then elected N. Veld as convention chairman while Mr. Spettum, Mr. Archibald and Mr. Baker were appointed on the credential and resolution committee. Resolutions were given in which the U.F.A. juniors were given the same rights as seniors as far as the convention was concerned.

ENDORSE GRAIN BILL

The convention also endorsed the grain bill now before the house at Ottawa and resolutions are to be wired to Prime Minister R. B. Bennett and Hon. Mr. Gardiner. The officials of the local U.F.A. were returned the same as last year: President, Mr. N. Veld; vice-president, W. Hoe; and secretary, Mrs. J. Kreiting. Hon. R. G. Reid, premier, Hon. H. W. Allen, minister of lands and mines, and municipal affairs, Mr. J. E. Brownlee and Hon. Irene Parlby addressed the evening meeting.

Church Would Curb Senate Veto Power

OTTAWA, June 27.—A move to limit the veto power of the senate in respect to bills which have passed the commons, will be made by T. L. Church, Conservative member for East Toronto. He proposes to place on the order paper of the commons a notice of motion which will provide that after a bill has been passed twice by the commons, it becomes law in spite of senate opposition.

The resolution of the Toronto member will include that the British North America Act should be amended in such a way as to make the proposal workable.

Mr. Church has for many sessions sponsored a bill which would compel publication of the names of shareholders in newspapers. This bill has repeatedly passed the commons but on half a dozen occasions met defeat in the senate.

Prince Attends Farewell Party To Belle Baker

LONDON, June 27—A plump, little husky-voiced woman who has danced with the Prince of Wales, sang for him privately for three hours, and for nine months reigned as queen of England's favorite pastime, returns today to her native New York on the steamship Washington.

It was at a farewell party in a cabaret on Piccadilly Circus that the raven-haired Jewish "Momma", who used to sell lemonade at a penny a drink in New York, tripped about the dance floor in the arms of the Prince of Wales. The prince and his party then engaged a private room where Belle—or just Baker, as she preferred to be called —sang for him.

"Of all the songs he liked best that Jewish comedy song 'Allas it-less,'" she said.

Babe Burns When Home Destroyed

PERTH, Ont., June 27.—Billy Nagle, 10 months old son of Mr. and Mrs. Morris Nagle, was burned to death when their home was destroyed by fire Wednesday.

DIFFERENCES ARE DUE TO TOPOGRAPHY

Dr. R. C. Wallace Gives Keen National Analysis Talk to Club

Analyzing characteristic of Canadians, coast to coast, Dr. R. C. Wallace, president of the Alberta University, speaking at a joint luncheon meeting of the Men's and Women's Canadian Clubs in the main dining room of the Macdonald hotel at noon Wednesday, took his audience on a verbal tour of the topographical divisions of the Dominion.

Each sectional and racial group in Canada, each with different virtues and qualities, are bound together with he common spirit of coping with the relentless power of untamed nature, said Dr. Wallace in his address, which was given in recognition of the Canadian Clubs' observance of Canada's national birthday.

"Topography of the country," said Dr. Wallace, "creates the differences and diversities in the people so essential and valuable to our national life."

ALL CONTRIBUTE

"The sense of the simple things in life, beauty of language, consolation of religion and the dignity of the family unit have been the contribution of the French Canadian to Canada," continued the speaker.

The English brought honesty and forthrightness, the Irish their wit and flair for politics, the Central European democratic ideal and love of beauty in life, the Americans brought the priceless possession of farming knowledge and the Scandinavians gave realism and practicability to the melting pot of the Canadian national unity.

"Even the Indian made a contribution," said Dr. Wallace. "The red man's dignified courteousness was a valuable gift."

WELDED AS ONE

The struggle for responsible and representative government over the past 100 years has welded the various new Canadian units as one.

"Canada has fought her way through and won that type of government, subservient to the throne only," said Dr. Wallace.

Lord Durham's report, the courage of the Fathers of Confederation, our part in the Great War, Sir Robert Borden's work in 1917 culminating in the Westminster Agreements of 1931, have combined to establish Canada's position in the world of nations as it is today, explained the speaker.

DIVISION IS RUIN

"We have yet to learn to give and take in Canada, east and west," said Dr. Wallace in outlining the problems that are being faced by Canada as a nation on her own.

"Failure of the eastern industrialists to co-operate with the west will bring ruin to the prairies," said Dr. Wallace but did not enlarge upon his point.

Dealing with relationships between Canada and the United States, Dr. Wallace said a strong national thought, and our part as a fusion element in the British Empire will be the finishing touches through trade by the United States.

The Alberta University president closed his Dominion survey once again setting out reasons and giving explanations of world peace and war.

VERIGIN AGAIN DENIES DOUKS GO TO PARAGUAY

YORKTON, Sask., June 27—Denial he planned to lead his followers to Paraguay was made here last night by Peter Verigin, Doukhobor chieftain. A dispatch from Washington intimated arrangements for transplanting members of the sect in Canada to the Paraguayan Chaco were in the investigation stage.

"Let me tell you briefly and clearly," Verigin told the Canadian Press, "once and for all, that we are not going to Paraguay. Canadian Doukhobors never intended to go to that country and never will. If we should ever go anywhere it will most certainly not be to Paraguay under any circumstances."

The leader of the sect that came to this country 43 years ago also took occasion to deny reports his followers sought to escape religious persecution in Canada.

"There has never been any religious persecution in Canada," he said. "If war most sincerely there has never been one instance where we have been persecuted. Present or past governments have never interfered in this respect."

A new wrinkle in farm relief is this frock, displayed by charming Loretta Young, film actress. Providing a ready outlet for farm products, her pale green linen gown is decorated at the waist and yoke by red thing!—radishes, which likewise adorn her hat.

YUKON PEAKS ARE NAMED FOR JUBILEE

Explorer Maps 2000 Square Mile Blank Spot Of North America

WASHINGTON, June 27.—Elimination of a 2,000 square mile blank spot on the map of North America Wednesday was reported accomplished by a young explorer headed the National Geographic Society's Yukon expedition.

Two majestic peaks found in that area and located on maps for the first time were named for King George and Queen Mary in honor of their silver jubilee year. The King congratulated the expedition "on their important achievement in effecting the first crossing of the St. Elias range from Yukon to Alaska."

REPORTS FINDINGS

Bradford Washburn, leader of the expedition of seven, returned Wednesday to report to the society and to submit his findings. The party spent four months mapping and studying the area of southwestern Yukon territory near the Klondike gold region immediately north of Juneau.

UNKNOWN RANGES

They reported aerial photographs of 10,000 square miles of rugged mountain regions and discovery of unknown mountain ranges. Washburn said they explored for the first time the entire course of the Alsek river, found new glaciers, and in the course of the exploration camped on ice for more than 90 days.

A glacier, 40 miles long, was named after co-president Alfred Lawrence Lowell of Harvard University.

Robert Randall of Prince Albert, Sask., was the expedition's airplane pilot. Other members of the expedition were Andrew M. Taylor of Harvard; Robert H. Bates of Philadelphia; Hartness Boardley of Springfield, Vt.; Adams Carter of West Medford, Mass., and Omar Daiber of Seattle.

M'FARLAND PLEADS PROBE WAIT FOR HIM

Seeks Privilege Being Present if Charges Are Laid

OTTAWA, June 27.—At the opening of today's session of the special house committee on the grain board bill, Prime Minister R. B. Bennett read the following telegram from John McFarland, government representative on the Winnipeg Grain exchange, who has been unable through illness to attend the committee's hearing, at present:

"I have hesitated to volunteer my opinion regarding the nature or extent of the evidence which your committee should in my absence investigate, because my physical condition had removed me for an intermissible period from the arena of active affairs.

RECOVER SOON

"But as my physician now gives me reasonable assurance I will in all probability be fully recovered in the course of a few weeks, I now venture to suggest to you any searching investigation of the day-to-day stabilization operations should not occur in my absence.

"If there is any accusation or suspicion of dishonesty, negligence or even incompetence against me, I am prepared to abide the issue for a year and a half years, I want the privilege of being present in person to face my accusers on each and every detail.

HE IS WILLING

"At this time I am perfectly willing that Messrs. Finlay Finlay (two of his assistants) disclose our total holdings of actual wheat and net unfilled purchases of wheat for future delivery together with the average cost per bushel of all such wheat basis delivered in Fort William.

"That information will convey to this country the full extent of the financial liability of any incurred in order to maintain the market for the crops produced in the past five years.

COMPLETE PICTURE

"This will give members of parliament as well as members of the proposed committee to form a complete financial picture of the problem. As soon as my physician pronounces me fit, probably I will gladly appear before any properly constituted authority and answer my accusers on any charge or charges they choose to make.

"It should be clearly evident neither Finlay Finlay nor the proposed wheat board can receive or secure delivery of more wheat than is actually in storage in Canada."

SHORT SALES

The department of Dominion statistics has given parliament figures of such quantities officially, while on the other hand, so long as there is a legalized futures market system operating to create and establish values for the producers of this country, there will occur periods of time when unwarranted short sales will exceed the total quantities of all actual wheat holdings and purchases in this country or in this continent at any time, just as there is at present. But the proposed new board in this instance need not worry as to any such title to more than exits in storage."

FINDLAY TESTIFIES

Robert Findlay, treasurer of the Canadian Co-operative Wheat Producers, said the organization had to answer a long series of questions submitted the first day the committee sat. These had to do with the detailed grain market operations and Mr. McFarland as general manager of the central selling agency and agent for the government in handling our efforts.

For an hour Mr. Findlay quoted figures and dates to disclose intimate details of sales and purchases by Mr. McFarland, by months, weeks and different ome periods by days, until the house and press benches, were becoming somewhat bored, showing step by step how the huge carryover now estimated at 225,000,000 bushels came into possession of the government.

DOREEN JANE PLATE WINNER

NEWCASTLE, England, June 27. —Doreen Jane, aged fifteen, owned by Duncan Grey out of Clochette, won the Northumberland Plate yesterday, with a margin of 1½ lengths over Armour Bright. Lucky Patch was third, three lengths back.

The race of two miles and the race was worth £1,253.

NEWBURY, England, June 27.—William Woodward's Black Devil was the winner of the summer cup, a handicap sweepstakes over a 1½-mile course. Capt. Stanley Wilson's Bois Roussel was second, and H. G. Blagrave's Knight of Monaster was third.

Gen. Chiang Is Popular Hero

SHANGHAI, China, June 27.—While General Chiang Kai-Shek continues to press farther and farther westward against the Communists and to bring more provinces under the influence of the central government, his career is assuming legendary proportions to the common people, and he is being accorded unusual marks of distinction.

Now the citizens of Kweiyang, the capital of distant Kweichow province, have not only named a street after General Chiang, but are also raising funds to erect a large stone pagoda to commemorate his visit there and his feat in driving the Communists out of Kweichow. In order to make room for General Chiang's pagoda, they have torn down a bronze statue of a former governor, the late General Chow Tsi-chen.

FRANCE READY WITH FINANCE FOR DEFENCES

Lawmakers Favorable To Vast Emergency Army, Navy Costs

PARIS, June 27—Strengthening of the army, navy and air forces to offset Germany's rearmament was approved Wednesday by the chamber finance committee which reported favorably on the government bill for emergency appropriations.

Colonel Jean Fabry, minister for war, told of Germany's arms plans, in asking 1,106,000,000 francs (about $72,806,000) including 600,000,000 francs previously voted by the arms committee, for the manufacture of new armaments, equipment of frontier fortifications and better training of the army. His bill and the special legislation to appropriate 297,613,860 francs (about $19,600,000) for the navy were approved in the committee, while the chamber's aviation committee approved modernization of the air fleet without announcing the cost.

Single-Wheeled Bicycle Shows On City Streets

LOS ANGELES, June 27.—Walter Nilsson, 39-year-old Los Angeles inventor, rode his "unicycle," a one-wheeled motorcycle, through the downtown business district today. The invention is a wheel within a wheel. A one-cylinder motor drives the outer wheel by chain.

Nilsson rode the "unicycle" 18 miles an hour. The inventor said with the addition of a pneumatic tire the wheel would travel 100 miles an hour. It now has a solid rubber tire.

The rider is inside the wheel, which is steered by a secret device.

PARIS CITY COUNCIL IN DONNYBROOK

PARIS, June 27.—Fighting between Communist and Conservative officials, in which Achille Gilley, president of the department and chief government official of the Paris region, was hit in the head by a missile, broke up a meeting last night of the council general at city hall.

Shots threw among the councilmen, who handle tax and other administrative affairs for the Paris region, after a stormy election of the council's president.

For an hour the officials shrieked "liberty," "assassins," at each other and Communists sang revolutionary songs, while a new vote was called because the ballot box was stuffed the first time.

SPEED RELAXES ON WEALTH-TAX U. S. MEASURE

WASHINGTON, June 27.—Disavowal by President Roosevelt of plans for enacting the new wealth-taxes by Saturday, coupled with stubborn house insistence upon legislating the levies, last night prompted abandonment of all efforts to push the program pell-mell through congress.

Instead of attaching the new rates on big incomes and inheritances to the pending resolution prolonging the life of the $2,000,000,000 relief taxes, democratic leaders decided to make a separate bill of them and let it follow the course usual to such legislation.

This quickly resulted:

The $500,000,000 inheritance tax resolution already approved by the House of Representatives was called up in the senate and speedily adopted; the house ways and means committee planned to begin consideration of the tax-the-rich program next week.

FIVE PORTLAND MILLS RESUME

PORTLAND, Ore., June 27.—Under the eyes of police, five of Portland's nine strike-bound lumber mills re-opened Wednesday, evidencing determination of operators to end the tieup gripping the Pacific northwest. All five mills operated with skeleton crews.

Convict Mutiny In Bulgaria As Noose Protest

SLIWEN, Bulgaria, June 27.—One convict was killed and three critically injured when guards fired on mutinous prisoners Wednesday a moment before a hanging was to take place in the prison yards.

By a pre-arranged signal the convicts smashed their windows with furniture and a number charged from their cells to break up the condemned man's march to the gallows. After the uprising was squelched the hanging proceeded.

At the same time a Communist agitator was hanged at the central prison in Sofia.

Future May Live In Houses Of Glass

DETROIT, June 27.—Members of the American Society of Testing Materials were told last night people in the future may live in glass houses.

In a discussion of materials for modern housing, John Ely Burchard, of Boston, vice-president of the Bemis Industries, described glass as "the most promising material of all."

It has been found that persons apparently killed by a low-voltage electric shock may be revived by another shock with a higher voltage of current.

Senate-Commons Disagree On Rail Workers Hours

OTTAWA, June 27—The Senate Wednesday on motion of Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen adopted a motion of non-concurrence in the amendment of the commons affecting Canadian railways to the eight-hour day bill.

A message is accordingly being sent to the commons.

The amendment proposed employees in the railway running trades only should come under the new law nine months after the bill receive the royal assent. Proposal of the senate, which the commons amended, was to bring these workers under the legislation six months after the royal assent, or approximately next December 31.

Another message being sent to the commons draws attention to the fact the lower house had not expressed concurrence in five additional changes made by the senate to the measure.

In Italy, people leave their calling cards when they pay visits to tombs.

Creation Of His Skill

TORONTO, June 27.—James Alexander, 52, was maimed for life last night by the machine on which he labored for more than a year—a hydroplane which he hoped some day would be invaluable to northern Ontario's forest firefighters.

The unemployed inventor, whose somehow has managed to eke out an existence for himself, his wife and two small sons, during the past two years, took the machine out on Lake Ontario for one of its final tests.

As the plane's 550-horsepower motor opened up, Alexander's trouser cuff caught in the flexible coupling of the propellor shaft. Alexander threw himself sideways, but to no avail. His leg was pulled towards the propellor. His foot was torn off. An hour later surgeons amputated more of the limb in an effort to save his life.

Alexander has invented several mechanical devices, first dreamed about his hydroplane three years ago. He visualized a pontoon-hulled, high-powered craft that would develop high speed, have heavy load ability and a shallow draught for inland waterways use. He believed such a craft could rush loads of men and equipment into forest fire areas.

Prized Miniature Is Again Sold

LONDON, June 27.—The feature of Wednesday's sale of J. P. Morgan's miniatures was the announcement that Queen Mary, who purchased Hans Holbein's "Portrait of Mrs. Pemberton" on Monday, has sold the precious item to the National Arts Collections Fund.

He paid 5,900 guineas (about $30,000) for the miniature, the gem of the collection.

Local Student Is Scholarship Winner

TORONTO, June 27—Cecil Edwin Hall, Edmonton, was the winner of the first War Memorial fellowship, $500, it was announced here Wednesday by the Alumni Federation of the University of Toronto. Hall is an honor graduate in physics of the University of Alberta.

Bitter, Broken, Pauper

UNION CITY, N.J., June 27.—They pinned medals on Salvatore Bracco, Italian-born American seaman, a few years ago for his heroism in two rescues on the high seas.

When the S.S. President Harding's crew of the stricken freighter Ignacio Florio on 1925, Bracco was the first into the lifeboat which took the crew off the freighter just as it sank. He got medals from five cities and a scroll from Benito Mussolini for that.

Greater recognition came in 1929 when the S.S. America rescued the crew of the ship Florida off the Virginia Capes. First to volunteer for the lifeboat crew, Bracco directed the rescue work. Former Mayor James J. Walker gave him a medal for his heroism when his ship reached New York. Later he received the congressional medal of honor, two more medals from Italy and six from American cities.

Seaman Bracco died Wednesday in poverty. Ill with heart trouble Bracco had been supporting his wife and son on a weekly relief grant of $7.50. Those who pinned medals on me and shook my hand wouldn't give me a job," he complained bitterly before he passed on.

THURSDAY, JUNE 27

THE CRISIS

Two tactless men met when Mr. Bennett and Mr. Evans encountered each other. Conference was only a polite term for what was bound to develop into a verbal combat, and did so. That both of them are positive-minded was their crowning disqualification as negotiators. It was a case of extremes meeting, in head-on collision.

Had the country been searched it is doubtful if two men could have been found less likely to examine a delicate situation with cold logic, discuss it in temperate language, and reach an agreement that would either bridge the difficulty or avert the imminent menace it carried.

Nobody is surprised that a deadlock resulted, with all too evident danger of starting an explosion which might set off a whole series of clashes between police and unemployed men, possibly developing into a condition of national-wide strife. The wonder would have been if either negotiator had persuaded the other to change his mind, or had himself eased the tension by compromise.

HIS PLANS FAILED

Charges of "terminological inexactitudes" and insincerity were exchanged. These are not the terms to promote either clarity of understanding or a diplomatic adjustment of an issue.

And in both cases the accusations of insincerity were wrong. Mr. Evans says he is a Communist, and there is no reason to doubt his claim. There is no more reason to doubt the honesty of Mr. Bennett. He believed in 1930 he could "end unemployment." He now believes neither he nor anybody else can do it. His plans have failed; and because they were his plans failed to Mr. Bennett means no plans could possibly succeed.

The Premier started out to make good his election undertaking in 1931 by backing provinces and municipalities in carrying on relief work projects. But as the depression deepened the magnitude of the expenditure frightened him; he stopped relief works and put the unemployed on the "dole."

An adequate work and wages program, he foresaw, could not be financed with money borrowed from and on the credit of people whose wages had gone to pieces, whose property values had been deflated, and who were being thrown out of employment in thousands. That was what stopped the work program and prevents him starting another.

AFRAID TO BORROW

Mr. Bennett was absolutely right, so far as that goes, when he decided that a policy of borrowing money at interest to create employment would run the country into bankruptcy. It would.

A depression debt of like magnitude, added to the war debt, would simply absorb the earnings of generations in interest-payments alone, without accomplishing anything in the way of a permanent solution of a situation that is new but very likely to endure—a situation in which it is no longer necessary or possible to use the man power of the country continuously in full-time employment.

The age of scarcity has gone, and the age of plenty has come. Mr. Bennett could not and cannot accept that fact and bring himself to undertake the radical reconstruction of monetary policy that will have to be made to meet the new conditions.

To the Premier there is no way to get the money for a work and wages program but to borrow it at interest; and no way to distribute money save as wages or gifts. Since he gives less as doles than he would have to pay as wages, the way that involves the least borrowing seems to him the only way possible of dealing with unemployment. Money wages must be paid whatever happens to men. Mr. Bennett really believes that—wholeheartedly.

NO ROOM FOR THEM?

The people of Canada are facing a crisis no less than Mr. Bennett's Government and the marchers whom Mr. Evans is leading. What may happen at Regina or elsewhere may be very terrible, but neither that nor any other particular locality is the scene of the crisis. This is nation-wide.

What it amounts to is this: the fathers and mothers of Canada are being told by the Prime Minister there is no place in Canada for the boys they brought into the world and have reared to manhood. The best he can say is "when work develops" they will have a chance to step out from the parental roofs and the relief camps, get jobs, earn wages, marry, create homes, and start to save up something for old age, as men normally do. Not a suggestion that the Government can do anything to make "work develop," as the Premier very definitely promised to do, and thought he could do, in 1930.

The people of Canada will not accept that fatalistic doctrine. It is absurd, cruelly wrong, impossible of reality; and they instinctively know it. A condition will have to be brought about in which every able-bodied man in Canada can at all times support himself and those properly dependent upon him by his own exertions.

Mr. Bennett says that condition cannot be brought about in his judgment. This simply means that Mr. Bennett's judgment is wrong, for the thing will have to be done or democracy will perish in Canada. People will not starve to maintain a monetary theory, however precious it may be to Mr. Bennett. Nor will one man go on working indefinitely to support another able-bodied man in idleness.

That is the real crisis in Canada, of which the array of forces at Regina is only an outcrop.

Forty Years Ago

From the Files of The Edmonton Bulletin

Butter is being bought at 10 cents a pound, for the first time in the history of Edmonton.

F. Marriaggi has imported six Angora rabbits. This is the first importation of tame rabbits to Edmonton.

J. A. McDougall and Thos. Hourston, two Edmonton old timers who have acquired bicycles, made the run to Ft. Saskatchewan and back on Saturday, 26 miles, in four hours.

A night alarm has been fitted up at the fire hall on the pillar next the council chamber. The words "fire alarm" are plainly marked on a white slab, in the centre of which is an electric button. Over the slab is an electric light. The bell connected with the button is in the engineer's room and on the alarm being given he will pull a rope that will open the doors of the hall. The doors will be closed every night at eleven o'clock, and the alarm is only for use after that hour.

A sermon was preached to the members of Edmonton lodge A. F. and A. M. in the Presbyterian church Sunday evening by Rev. John Morrow.

The London paper that is supposed to reflect the opinions of Lord Salisbury is advocating the reconstruction of the Balkan governments by allowing Bulgaria to absorb Macedonia and Constantinople, giving Greece some extension of her frontiers and confining Moslem domination to a portion of Asia Minor. This of course means war, but war is in the air.

THIRTY YEARS AGO

Paris: For the first time since the Fashoda incident the people of France are at war fever. Whether it will result in anything serious depends upon the tone of Germany's reply to the French note regarding Morocco. While the financial element scout the possibility of war, army circles are active and the public seriously discuss the possibility of war.

The McMaster band of revivalists held a farewell meeting in the Thistle rink Sunday evening.

The Masons of Edmonton attended Divine service in the rink Sunday afternoon, service being conducted by Rev. H. A. Gray.

Poems That Live

THE LAST FIRE

You saw the last fires burning on the hill
In that far autumn twilight when we took
The future by the hand through woods as still
As your heart is today, and crossed the brook.

The brook that gurgled through the quietude
Was just a slender stream that sauntered on.
How were we to know the thing we should—
That we had crossed our narrow Rubicon?

And after, in the shadow of the leaves,
When your great eyes grew still with the growing night,
They felt the holiness where the twilight grieves
And mirrored back the bonfires on the height.

And what quick flame was in your eyes I knew;
And how the moment caught us on our way
To Truth's own story scribes for a few
In dust of ashes in your eyes today.

The Passing Show

By J. S. COWPER

Remember the difference that ballyhoo made between the Lindbergh flight across the Atlantic and the pioneer Atlantic flight by the two British fliers, Alcock and Brown ten years before? Well, the same thing has happened over the Dionne quintuplets.

J. S. Cowper

Dr. Marcel Baudouin, French authority on multiple births, in an article on this month's French Medical Review says that two weeks before the Dionne quintuplets were born, quintuplet boys were born to Signorina Rosa Salemi of Palermo, Italy. The date of their birth was May 13, 1934.

The last he heard of them the five little boy babies were still alive, though Dr. Baudouin says he does not hear much about them as they lack the publicity given to the Dionne babies, organized by what he calls "the best journalists in the world."

It might be a good thing for Papa and Mama Dionne to have competition. The way a generous world lavished gifts and publicity on them seems to have soured their lives. I'll wager that the Salemi parents, struggling along to keep their brood without theatre contracts, photographic royalties and advertising fees, are much happier than the greed-racked Dionne parents.

U.F.A. members in the Alberta legislature (with the Independent and Labor groups abstaining from voting) recently voted down a motion to call a conference of oil and gas producers and consumers with a view to bringing about a reduction of gas and oil costs. But we are learning something about the prices at which gasoline could be sold profitably, from a clash of interests in Montreal.

Montreal had been selling gasoline at 27 cents a gallon, including a six cents tax. Finding that they could import high-grade refined gasoline from Roumania and sell it at 20 cents a gallon, including tax, a company was formed and sales made. Now the Canadian companies have cut the price of gasoline to 16 cents a gallon (tax included). As refined gasoline can be bought in tank-ship quantities at Gulf of Mexico ports at 3½ cents a gallon, or delivered in Canada at less than six cents a gallon, the Canadian companies should be able to sell indefinitely at a fair profit at the 16 cents a gallon rate.

Mr. Chas. C. Labrie, former purchasing agent for the C.N.R., told the Fuel Enquiry at Vancouver that he could sell gasoline at a profit for 16 cents a gallon if he could be assured of protection against dumping penalties by the Canada Customs. He figured in addition to the less-than-six cents for delivered gasoline, a 2½ cents duty, a 3 per cent excise tax and 6 per cent sales tax and a 7 cents a gallon road tax, in his calculations that he could sell gasoline for 16 cents a gallon.

Every time you pay 30 cents or more a gallon for gasoline, remember that you are getting 6 cents worth of gas. The rest is divided between the government and the gasoline company. The marvel is that Ottawa ever consented to an enquiry.

Now that Premier Bennett has refused the demands of the relief camp strikers for work and wages and ordered them back to the camps, we shall soon particularly see to widespread trouble. No man knows what the next few weeks may bring forth. Orders have gone out to increase the civil militia—known in Canada as "the Mounties." There will be money for militia, for machine guns, tear gas bombs and airplanes, but none for "work and wages." The only exception made by Mr. Bennett and his friends is the political roadwork given to needy men on a pledge that on election day they will vote for Mr. Bennett's candidates.

It all shows how hard times demoralize character. Five poor chaps who had to give false assurances that they were Conservatives and would agree to come into Edmonton on election day to register Conservative candidates as a condition of getting jobs at the Jasper highway relief camp, tell me they have no intention of carrying out their pledge. They'll come in to vote, but not in the way they agreed. The way they look at it was expressed by one chap. Said he: Bennett became premier of Canada by pretending falsely that he would abolish unemployment. I have just as much right to lie to the Conservative organizer to get a job on the Jasper highway."

The riots at Vancouver over the dockers' strike give an indication of what might happen on a large scale, if the men on relief ever get out of hand. It's fortunate that they lack leaders with imagination who could tell them of far more effective and less dangerous ways of tieing up a nation by effective protest, than by shieing half-bricks at members of the civil militia, armed with guns and bombs.

The Vancouver affair was not over wages. The Vancouver longshoreman is probably the highest paid dockers in Canada. They get 85 cents an hour for working on ships and 81 cents for working on the dock, with time and a half for overtime and double time for emergency work. Any longshoreman is better paid than the average newspaperman, works fewer hours and gets more holidays. The issue in the Vancouver strike is not wages, but a conflict between rival unions.

If men in a case like that can agree to defy machine guns and stage a running fight over a distance of eight city blocks, what could not the million or so of men on relief do in Canada if they ever broke loose. We don't half appreciate their patience—if patience is a virtue in a situation such as we have been facing for so long.

Men under fire—especially if they are under fire from both sides—are apt to forget principles in seeking self-preservation. So fervid a Radical as "Gerry" McGeer in his capacity as Mayor of Vancouver, with a couple of strikes on his hands has denounced both the relief strikers and the dock strikers as "Communists." It carries the implication that to be a Communist is to be outlawed.

I'm not a Communist, but honesty compels the assertion that Communism is not an outlaw belief. A man has as much right to be a Communist as to be a Liberal, or a Tory or a U.F.A. supporter. Communism—like Liberalism or Toryism—only falls foul of the law when it seeks to use force or other subversive means. According to the Bible, the early Church was Communistic. It's odd to see men as diverse as McGeer and Bennett using the word "Communism" as a sort of bogeyman to frighten grownup children.

Heartburn, Gastritis

By DOCTOR FRANK McCOY

The heart is not a very sensitive organ insofar as its reaction to sensation is concerned, and most of the pains which seem to occur near the heart really are in the stomach, diaphragm, plura or lung.

Heartburn usually is only a symptom of acidity of the stomach which is to the left side of the body and presses almost directly under the heart. When the stomach is filled with a fermenting mass of food or where there is a large amount of inflammation present there may be a burning feeling created in the upper part of the stomach which is referred to as "heartburn" because of the region from which the pain is felt, and because the actual pressure of gas may cause interference with the heart, itself.

Dr. F. McCoy

If you belch frequently just after eating, you may have eaten too much. Try cutting down the amount of food at one meal to half. This still may be too much, and it may be necessary to reduce the quantity. No stomach can take care of fifteen or twenty separate articles of food, of which dinners consist, without being over-loaded.

Too much gastric juice produces a hyper-acidity which tends to inflame the lining of the stomach and intestines. Such bad combinations as starches and acids, and meat and starches, must be avoided if one wants to avoid heartburn. Make your meals as simple as possible, using from two to four articles at a meal. Highly seasoned foods and condiments excite the flow of gastric juice. Also, highly seasoned food usually causes more food to be eaten than the body is naturally hungry for.

One who continually mistreats the stomach with wrong articles of food will produce a chronic state of inflammation that takes a long time to overcome. This inflammation is very apt to form ulcers if permitted to continue.

If you have been troubled with heartburn, make note of the above points and change your methods of eating before the heartburn leads to stomach ulcers, or before some heart disorder develops because of the excessive gas pressure created from hyperacidity of the stomach.

You can prevent heartburn by not eating too much food; by avoiding bad combinations, by not eating when tired or worried, and avoiding the use of condiments, highly seasoned and rich foods.

If you have regular periods of heartburn, it is advisable for you to use a few days of some liquid diet to give your stomach a rest so that the inflammation which is present may subside. The use of soda is not a permanent cure for heartburn. Either an orange juice or a milk diet until the symptoms of inflammation have disappeared will produce relief, after which one may use any of the wholesome, well-balanced menus which are given weekly in my column in this newspaper.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

QUESTION: Mrs. Clara T. writes: "What is the best eye wash? Should the eye be bathed in an antiseptic solution each day?"

ANSWER: The best eye wash yet invented is the natural one supplied by tears. Tears contain antiseptic properties far superior to those found in the common solutions used for bathing the eyes. The patient in normal health with no eye strain does not need to use antiseptics daily.

QUESTION: Mr. Jonathan B. wants to know: "Just lately I have a pain in the lower back that shoots down one leg. Could you tell me what it is?"

ANSWER: The chief cause of a pain such as you describe is sciatica. However, I believe that you will understand that it is difficult for me to tell you definitely what is the actual cause in your case without having an opportunity to make a careful examination.

Horoscope

By MARY BLAKE

On June 28 conditions which may cause jealousy, makes it advisable for you to be careful of what you say, how you express preferences, and what you do. A good motto to remember this day is: "actions speak louder than words." This day should be auspicious for making engagements of a social nature. Married and engaged couples, and those with matrimonial thoughts should find this a good day to plan some form of diversion that will require their going to some interesting place.

If a woman, and June 28 is your birthday, you should possess a loveable disposition, and know the way to get along with people. It will be a good policy for you to pursue, to discuss any matter involving a large expenditure of money with some disinterested person. Through matrimony you should be able to have the type of home life you have always desired.

If a man, and June 28 is your natal day, you have the happy faculty of being able to accept success, or failure, with equanimity.

If a man and woman are married on this day, they will be ideally mated, and will have a happy home life. Children born on this day will be fortunate, and will be blessed with a happy disposition.

A Day in Canadian History —o— By FRED WILLIAMS

On this date, in 1896, the citizens of Toronto gathered in force in Queen's Park to attend the unveiling of a monument to the men who had died in the North West campaign of 1885. The demonstration was an illustration of the fact that after eleven years the people had not forgotten the sacrifices made and the hardships suffered by the students, clerks and artisans who had abandoned their daily avocations to volunteer to save the young Canada of that day from spoliation.

That monument stands hoodwinked today decorated by the survivors of the North West Field Force every Victoria Day, and pointed out to visitors as one of the memorials of the alacrity with which young Canadians have always responded to the call to arms. There is a vacant space on one side of that monument. It is planned that as part of the jubilee reunion of the veterans to be held July 26, 27 and 28 next that vacancy shall be filled with a plaque telling those who come after that the veterans of '85 did not forget their comrades; whether they died during the campaign or since, in civil life but still doing their duty to Canada and the Empire. If perchance any survivor of the North West Field Force should read this and he has not sent in his name to the reunion committee at Toronto will he do so at once? It is desirable that a record be stored of all those still living. Those who cannot travel to Toronto to join in the reunion will be sent a souvenir of the jubilee if they register with Major T. A. E. Wold, 167 Yonge St., Toronto, Ont.

The Mail Bag

MAKES COMMUNISTS

Editor Bulletin: It seems to me to be about time that the older people of Canada, took a more serious view of the plight our young men are in at present.

Premier Bennett must be of a very callous nature; he fails to understand, or doesn't want to understand, the position of most of the young lads of today.

It may seem alright for him and others who have made, or think they have made, a success of life but what have these boys got to look forward to? He tells the delegation the boys sent to see him, "Go back to the camps and wait." Wait for what, I would like to know? If they wait for any action from him or the other old fossils who hold the reins of power, I am afraid it will be a long, long wait.

I wonder how many people went to the trouble to find out for themselves what kind of men are on this trek to Ottawa?

I made a point of mixing with these young fellows and talking to some of them, and I found, taking them in the majority, a fine, clean cut, upstanding bunch of young Canadians, who in the years 1914 to 1918 would have been called the Flower of our Nation, as most of their fathers were called at that time.

The answer that R. B. has sent back to these boys at Regina, must certainly show the people of Canada what a dull-headed piece of humanity we have at the head of our country. I think after all these years Unions, Social Workers, Community Leagues, Churches, Ex-Service Men's organizations, and also our newspapers as they are supposed to be the voice of the people, should send to Ottawa protests so strong and numerous that the powers that be must do something, for after all these young men are only asking for a chance to earn an honourable living and make homes for themselves, so that they may raise families in decency.

Mr. Bennett says "You are a bunch of Communists so you get nothing from me." True, there is a sprinkling of Communists among them, who are in the minority, but after the boys get Bennett's big "No." I don't doubt for one minute that there will go 100 per cent Communist, as that organization in this country, never had a better recruiter, or maker of Communists than R. B. Bennett, premier of Canada.

CANADA'S EXPORTS TO BRITAIN

The imports of wheat into the United Kingdom during the first three months of this year shrank by some 1,200,000 cwt. but higher prices have made the 1934 values greater than last year, writes Mr. Frederic Hudd, chief Canadian trade commissioner in London, in the Commercial Intelligence Journal. Imports from Canada fell by some 860,000 cwt., but in spite of this the cash return to the Dominion was 1,275,589 as compared with 12,206,192 in the first quarter of 1934. Canadian barley shipments increased perceptibly during a period when there was a substantial reduction in the total, while in oats the Dominion more than doubled her shipments.

Receipts from Canada of flour reflected the declining tendency which has been apparent in recent months, the quantity falling from 938,836 cwt. in 1934 to 583,084 cwt. Better values were, however, again evident.

Imports of Canadian cattle fell away sharply, due to the bacon trade a further substantial advance to 285,283 cwt. from 242,833 cwt. in the corresponding period of the previous year was recorded in favour of the Dominion. Purchases of leaf tobacco from Canada began to show buoyancy after the slump last year.

Receipts of timber during the three months were on a lower level owing to the fairly generally overstocked condition of the market and Canadian shipments also dropped. On the other hand, an upward movement developed in the Dominion's trade in aluminium, the cheaper sales of manufactured wood products and leather. In newsprint, however, Canada suffered a marked reverse. The 1934 imports of 318,649 cwt. dropping to 45,406 cwt.

Salvaging Fifty Million Dollars Per Year

By R. T. ELLIOTT, K.C.

Suppose instead of invoking the aid of Providence for politicians we take refuge in commensense for once and talk business to the management of the C.N.R.

We can reasonably say to them that the annual deficit of fifty million dollars per year is a heavy load on the individual taxpayer; and that we want to give him a subsidy by way of a cut in his delivered coal price and thereby give back to him what he pays for the railway deficit.

Inasmuch as the cost of the railway deficit falls on the taxpayer no matter where he lives, it is absolutely fair and absolutely necessary that the reduced coal price delivered apply to every place in Canada reached by the C.N.R. so that every taxpayer get his fair share of the salvage subsidy.

It will be absolutely fair and right that the C.N.R. be asked to haul this coal at cost. Such cost, when the short and medium hauls are set off against the long hauls, will average somewhat less than two dollars per ton. At the end of a three-year period the cost will be known absolutely to a fraction of a cent and any necessary readjustment can be made.

Bearing in mind that every dollar in reduction of delivered cost of coal is a subsidy to some Canadian taxpayer by way of salvage in return for the amount he pays toward the railway deficit, there is no risk of loss. Our own people get the money.

Suppose the C.N.R. gets no profit at all for hauling the coal, still we can reasonably expect to make money on the salvage of the railway deficit, in the following ways:

1. Reduction of $40 per year in the cost of heating an average home; extending to one million homes—a total of forty million dollars;

2. Reduction in cost of heating business blocks, public buildings, hotels and apartments, another total of forty million dollars;

3. Reduction in cost of fuel used in local industries, not capable of immediate estimate, but certain to soon equal another total of forty million dollars; and

4. Employment for an additional two hundred thousand men with an earning and spending power of not less than six hundred thousand dollars per day.

We can continue to pay the deficit of fifty million dollars per year and make a profit of at least one hundred million dollars per year by giving to every Canadian resident at any place in Canada reached by the C.N.R. a delivered price for coal of five dollars per ton; and the grade of coal best suited to the buyer's need can be selected and delivered.

In other words the C.N.R. can now and ever hereafter earn a profit of over one hundred million dollars per year for the people of Canada by giving them a full cost which beats world competition.

This is an absolutely fair and absolutely honest method of settling our railway problem once and for all. You can divide the foregoing estimates by three and still have a net profit over the deficit, with the additional profit due to putting thousands of men into permanent employment.

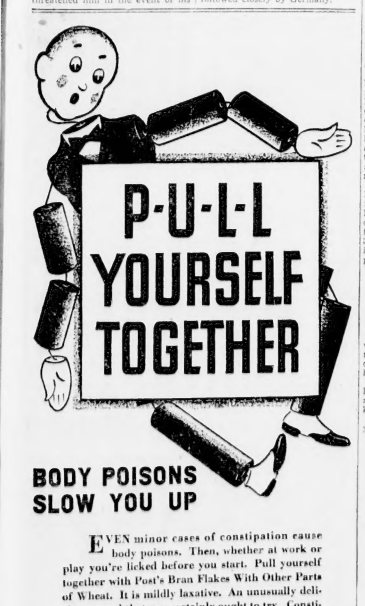

There is no possible contradiction of these facts and figures. All that we have to do is haul the coal and get the money.

RELIEF FOR STRIKERS IS COAST ISSUE

McGeer Moves to Have Province Take Hand in Problem

VANCOUVER, June 27.—Mayor G. G. McGeer announced last night he would take up with G. S. Pearson, British Columbia minister of labor, and the civic relief committee the problem presented by longshore labor dispute forcing an emergency relief situation.

The city relief office has received a number of applications from striking longshoremen but these have been refused following the city council's decision that no relief would be given strikers.

A motion to rescind the council's previous action was withdrawn by its sponsor, Ald. H. D. Wilson, after considerable discussion.

Mayor McGeer declared he believed it was within the power of the provincial government under the special powers act to intervene in the labor dispute and even to establish a wage scale for that class of employment.

Select Menu To Fit Most Attractive Dishes

By MARY E. DAGUE

Every bride returns to her dear little nest and faces the big problem of how to pay back her obligations. She owes everybody and the new budget is already strained to the breaking point.

Sister Mary

I would advise her to begin her entertaining with a tea. Keep it simple and invite a lot of people so you won't have to worry about everybody having somebody congenial to talk to.

Luncheon is next, and here's a tip. Select your menu to fit your most attractive dishes. For example, if you have some particularly beautiful cream soup plates, let the first course be cream of mushroom soup, serve a salad with rolls for the second course and finish with dessert and coffee. Don't have more than eight or twelve at such an affair.

KEEP DINNER PARTY SMALL

When it comes to the first dinner party my advice is to keep it small. If you have no help in the kitchen, dinner for four will be easy to handle alone, and there will be no danger of you getting flustered about things. Remember, the first sort of thing is new to your husband, too, and he's going to be in the limelight when it comes to serving the roast.

Talk everything over with him. Men have very definite ideas about foods, and it pays to cater to their likes and dislikes. I went to a dinner one time where the host ate only his soup and dessert—he didn't like lamb, never ate green peas and loathed jellied salads. Men generally like simpler and heartier food than women, and I think dinners should be planned to please the men.

Roast beef always is a safe choice. For a dinner for four I'd select a filet of beef. Have the butcher lard it for you and roast it in an open pan in a hot oven. After the first twenty minutes reduce heat to 300 degrees F. and continue roasting. Allow twenty minutes to the pound. Sprinkle with salt and pepper when roast is put in the oven.

New potatoes in parsley butter or in cream sauce can be kept hot over hot water while the first course is being served and are seasonal for this time of year.

If you serve potatoes in a cream sauce, serve a plain buttered vegetable. Buttered cauliflower, buttered asparagus or buttered green beans are excellent vegetables to serve with beef.

MIXED GREENS FOR SALAD

For a salad nothing can excel a crisp green mixed salad—curly endive, firm head lettuce, tender romaine and watercress. A plain French, Roquefort cheese or French dressing to which minced parsley, finely chopped red pepper and finely chopped hard cooked eggs have been added are all good to serve with greens.

Ice cream and cake is an easy answer for the dessert, although if you have mastered pie baking, nothing ever makes a greater hit with men.

For the first course serve a fruit cup if you don't plan to have fruit dessert. Otherwise serve either hot or jellied bouillon. If it's a very hot evening jellied bouillon is preferable. With it serve crisp radishes and celery and big ripe olives.

Of course, you will use all the wedding presents of silver and glassware and china.

Soft glowing candlelight flatters every woman and you can somehow be too lavish in their use. Use tall tapers so that the lighted tip will not shine in the eyes of any guest.

Keep your centrepieces as low as possible because every one talks better if he can see the person across the table.

Here's your dinner menu:

DINNER

Radishes Olives Celery
Larded Filet of Beef
New Potatoes in Cream Sauce
Buttered Asparagus
Salad of Mixed Greens with Roquefort Dressing
Fresh Strawberry Mousse
Sunshine Cake Coffee

Tomorrow's Menu

BREAKFAST: Sliced pineapple, crisp broiled bacon, eggs fried in bacon fat, graham muffins, milk, coffee.

LUNCHEON: Casserole of cauliflower and cheese, meat loaf and carrot salad, toasted muffins, milk, tea.

A BEDTIME STORY

Story by HAL. COCHRAN Pictures by GEORGE SCARBO

When sleepy Rip began to snore, wee Duncy cried, "My, what a roar! Each time he takes a real deep breath, he almost shakes the house.

"He must be tired as he can be. If we are real Hollisteres, we will not make very much noise, but keep quiet as a mouse."

"Why don't you practice what you preach? Each time you talk, you almost screech," said Scouty. "I'd suggest that you run right outdoors and play."

"However, if you'd rather stick, why don't you pull your usual trick, and fall asleep, yourself? Why, you can sleep, lid, night or day."

"Don't be sarcastic," Duncy snapped. "Just think how often we've all napped. That's just what keeps me in fine trim. I am a healthy lad.

"Giftimes, while you are running round, I'm being smart, and sleeping sound. Perhaps I am a sleepyhead, but that's all right. I'm glad!"

Wee Dotty kept on ironing till fair Goldy said, "You've had your fill. Now, let me try my hand a while." But Dotty said, "I'm through."

"All of the ironing, now, is done. While it was hard work, it was fun." Then Rip's satisfied. It is the best that I could do."

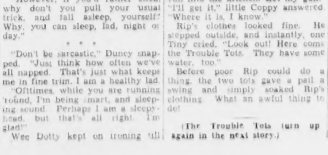

"Then they woke Rip and he cried, "Gee, to think you did that all for me! I'm going to put my clothes on, now. Ahunting I will go."

While I get dressed, somebody run into the kitchen. Get my gun! I'll get it," little Soppy answered. Where is it, I know."

Rip's clothes looked fine. He stepped outside, and instantly, one Tiny cried, "Look out! Here come the Trouble Tots. They have some water, too."

Before poor Rip could do a thing, the two tots gave a pail a swing and simply soaked Rip's clothing. What an awful thing to do!

What's What

We—a group of 1935 college grads, sadly—are taking a cruise to Nova Scotia and there was quite a discussion as to the proper apparel for the first meal in the dining room. The boat sails at 6 p.m. on Friday. We shall be gone ten days. Is it necessary to change into formal evening clothes or dinner dress, or would the travelling suits worn when going aboard be all right? One girl says that would be proper, since the boat sails almost an hour before dinner is served and no time is allowed for changing. I, on the other hand, think that a get-together night would naturally be a big night and that formal evening dress would be most appropriate.

BEGINNER.

Answer—Whether going via the St. Lawrence or the Great Lakes to Northern Canada, to Nova Scotia, to the West Indies or to Europe, informal travelling clothes are customary for the first night aboard. Unless a dance has been arranged (which is unlikely), "formal evening dress" would be too conspicuous among fellow travellers who had not yet unpacked their baggage.

Jack S.—First. A gentleman rises when a woman speaks to him or when she comes to a table where he is seated as a guest. Second. He lifts his hat after a woman bows to him in passing (but must await her recognition of him). Third. He shakes hands with her only when she is first to extend her hand. Fourth. Avoiding Mistakes In Using Eye Cosmetics

By GLADYS GLAD

"America's Most Famous Beauty"

In many of the harems of the East, women for years were forced to veil their faces, so that only their eyes were visible to their associates. As a consequence, these women of the Orient devoted most of their time to the cultivation of beautiful eyes. And they regarded kohol as their most important cosmetic. For this preparation helped to make their eyes appear large, dark and alluring.

As Gertrude L. Myers, who is the dean of mannequins, can tell you, in Occidental countries women do not possess only one preparation for darkening and accenting the eyes, but many. Miss Mayer, who has trained numerous models, says that if a girl makes up her eyes cleverly, she will give them emphasis and will enhance their basic loveliness. If, however, she doesn't know how to employ her eye cosmetics skillfully, she may give her eyes merely a hard, overpainted appearance.

Eye cosmetics generally are employed by actresses and trained models with the greatest degree of artistry. But if the average girl follows the same methods actresses and models usually employ, she should be able to make her eyes appear just as glamorous and attractive.

GET POINTED EYE PENCIL

The first thing to do, is to obtain a very finely-pointed eye pencil. With this pencil, draw a very thin fine line under each of your eyes as close to your lower lashes as possible. Carry the line slightly beyond the outer corner of each eye. Then, with your finger tip blend the line deliberately under each eye and at the corners, so that it is not obvious.

The next step in eye make-up Gertrude Mayer claims, is the application of eyeshadow cream. Eye-shadow is one of the most beautifying items of make-up, when used correctly. But it should be used sparingly and discreetly. In applying eyeshadow, put a bit of the cream on the tip of your forefinger, and smooth it over the upper eyelid, close to the lashes. Then blend the cream over the lid so that the color is deepest at the lashes, and fades gradually into almost no color at all. When correctly applied to the upper eyelids, eyeshadow has the effect of causing the eyes to appear larger, brighter and deeper in color than they ordinarily seem.

Good Taste

By Francine Market

Small rooms should be appointed with furniture that conforms with their size.

Great, overstuffed furniture in a small living room will create a feeling of confusion and overcrowding, which will not add to the comfort of occupants.

If you must have large pieces of furniture in a small room, use the fewest number possible and give them upholstered inconspicuously.

Garden Party To Aid "Y" At Christ Church

At the board meeting of the Y.W.C.A. Wednesday, June 26, the date was set for a garden party on Christ church lawn, which has by special concession been loaned to the Y.W.C.A. for the afternoon of Friday, July 12. Mrs. J. L. Duncan, Mrs. G. E. Story, Mrs. F. R. Bore and Mrs. W. H. Sierne and others will form the committee for arrangements. Mrs. H. A. McMillan has been appointed to take charge of the Seba Cottage and will go out Thursday with Mrs. E. P. Wellwood to open the cottage and be ready for guests Friday evening, June 28.

Miss Helen Hilton of Saskatoon was appointed Girls' Work secretary and will begin her duties in September.

It was felt that this was a very progressive step, for the "Y" as the work for girls is expanding so rapidly. Club room accommodation space is limited, and it is hoped that further building will be possible in the near future. Miss Hilton comes highly recommended, and her training and experience fit her particularly well for her work in Edmonton.

The business discussions made it necessary for Mrs. Wellwood's convention report to be postponed and it will be given Wednesday, July 3, when present and past board members are planning a luncheon in honor of Mrs. A. C. Farrell at the Y.W.C.A. Those present were Mrs. Percy Bailey, Mrs. G. R. Barnes, Mrs. E. T. Bishop, Mrs. F. R. Bore, Mrs. J. A. Clarke, Mrs. J. L. Duncan, Mrs. W. L. Freeman, Mrs. J. R. Fraser, Mrs. C. R. Gillespie, Mrs. A. W. Henry, Mrs. H. W. Hewetson, Mrs. Fred. Hollands, Mrs. F. A. Keller, Mrs. John H. Lines, Mrs. M. C. McConnel, Mrs. W. J. Mellroy, Mrs. Frances Neal, Mrs. J. F. Smith, Mrs. Wm. Sierne, Mrs. G. E. Story, Mrs. A. S. Tuttle, Mrs. R. B. Woodsworth and Mrs. E. P. Wellwood.

Better Living Conditions Needed Here

CHARLOTTETOWN, June 27. —Women's Institute workers would do well to urge upon governments the need of encouraging research work aimed at bettering living conditions in the homes of Canada, Dr. Patterson, president of Acadian University, Wolfville, N.S., declared in addressing the Federated Women's Institutes in biennial convention here.

"The hope of the future lies in more research," he said last night. "The world has almost reached the limit, as regard the introduction of labor saving machinery. But as economists point out, industry has only begun in the realm of satisfying human wants."

Home Is Like The Railway Lunch Room

OTTAWA, June 27. — The home too often had become a railway lunch counter in an age of paganism that bred self-centred sons and daughters characterized by their selfishness and overwork, Rev. W. L. Murray, M.C., of Campbell's Bay, Que., last night told the Catholic Women's League in national convention here.

Lack of parental responsibility was one cause, the distinguished war padre said. Parenthood was a dignified and honorable occupation, and should not be run on a half-hour day, Father Murray warned.

ROYAL ALEX. GARDEN FETE IS VERY GAY

Colored lights swinging between the tall trees surrounding the lawns of the Royal Alexandra hospital made a very gay setting for the garden party arranged by the Women's Auxiliary on Wednesday evening, which was attended by about 500 guests, when Miss Frances Munroe, superintendent of nurses, welcomed the visitors with Mrs. Clarke, Mrs. A. F. Anderson and Mrs. Harry Gowen assisting at the door. Mrs. Baker, Mrs. Charles McManus, Miss Young, Miss Sheldon, Miss Allyn, Miss Helm, Miss Johnson, Miss M. F. Fraser, and Mrs. E. Seddon.

Booths for fortune telling were an attractive spot with Miss Violet Chapman and Miss Jennie Wilson to read tea cups and palms, and tell many a romantic tale for the future, and tables for tea were attractive also.

In the reception room of the nurses home dancing was arranged, the program of music was delightful with Mr. William Crombie, Mrs. Plaxton and Mr. Wells soloists, and a fashion parade of nurses' uniforms was clever. Old fashioned costumes, English costume and the military uniforms were masequered by a number of the younger students.

BLIND SOLDIER WRITES VERSE TO I. O. D. E.

Below is a letter of appreciation written in poetical form sent to the Fort Augustus Chapter I.O.D.E. by the soldier patients at the University hospital:

"Dear Mrs. Gray and members
Of the grand I. O. D. E.
Our heartfelt thanks we send you,
Both Wards A, B and C.

The strawberries were delicious,
And also was the cream,
And the delicious cake that was with it,
Seemed to taste just like a dream.

The fortune-telling was marvelous
And each man that had his told,
Received some very good advice,
Which was worth far more than gold.

So, once again we thank you,
And we wish you all success,
How much those card games were appreciated
In the winter time also.

Three hearty cheers the boys all give
From Wards A B and C,
For the grand I. O. D. E.
(Signed) The Boys from the Wards.

This poem was written by one of the Fort Augustus boys who is now blind, and was written in appreciation of the entertainment given every month.

the social round . . . .

PLACES artistically marked by little cards on each of which was hand-painted the lovely full-blown Alberta rose, were laid for about 100 of the members and wives of members attending the conference of the Canadian Society of Agriculturists at a luncheon in the drawing-room of the Macdonald on Wednesday. The guests were welcomed by Mrs. Robert C. Wallace, and Mrs. G. M. Stewart of Calgary responded on behalf of the visitors, who are here from east and west for the occasion. Mrs. Francis Neal was the soloist, and was accompanied at the piano by Miss Helen Porter. Guests at the head table included, with Mrs. Wallace, Mme. Morin of Quebec, Mrs. Wood, of Manitoba, Mrs. King of Saskatchewan, and Mrs. DeLong representing Alberta, with Mrs. J. S. Grisdale, Mrs. R. D. Sinclair, Mrs. J. R. Fraser, Mrs. G. S. Sanford and Mrs. Andrew.

The luncheon party was quite one of the most delightful of the numerous social affairs arranged for the entertainment of the visitors, and the guests were seated at small tables in the spacious sunny room. Alberta's rose, which marked the place cards, quite as renowned as Alberta's somewhat captious sunshine, was celebrated in verse by a charming poem written by Mrs. Wallace, and marking each of the place cards:

"Where beauty loves to linger, on fields of sunny snow.
On rolling leagues of Foothills, where sweet unfolds the rose.
Alberta gives her largesse, of joy for seeing eyes
Come, lay aside your sorrows,' the rose of beauty cries.
The rose is full of memories of other days and ways.
The rose is strong as nature, full of her vital cheer, Alberta's rose welcome her friends from far and near."

Later the guests motored out to St. Albert and saw the charming old town, so steeped in the romantic events of western history. They were shown through the old cathedral and addressed by one of the priests in charge. In the evening they were entertained at the Department of Agriculture at a picnic supper at Oliver.

On Thursday a tea was arranged at Mayfair by Mrs. F. S. Grisdale, who has been convener of all social affairs. Mrs. Sanford and Mrs. R. D. Sinclair is in charge.

Your Children - By OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

For parents to become incurable critics of their children is the easiest thing, yet every child has some good in him, and most of them have far more than we give them credit for.

A lady's letter says that her Mary is just no good. Mary is lazy, won't mind the baby, is careless about her dishes, only half, and would be found playing all the time.

I wonder what "all the time" means. If Mary comes from school, there can't be a whole lot of time left for little girl to gad. She is twelve years old.

However, I don't about Mary and her shortcomings. I am talking particularly just now, but the point that out of every dozen letters I receive there are never more than two or three that mention a child's virtues. Johnny is disobedient: Louise is a tomboy: Arthur is a coward. And the complaints usually drag trailers that leave me with the impression these youngsters have no good qualities at all.

O. R. Barton

MORE CRITICISM THAN PRAISE

I know their parents do not feel that way altogether about these delinquents and are only putting their worries on paper yet it confirms what I have always said, that many a child gets more criticism in a day than praise. They live in an atmosphere of nagging, scoldings and reminders without much encouragement to obtain the monotony.

Such method rarely gets the best results. It is better to get at the root of the trouble and go about correcting it in some constructive manner. A man working in an office knows he cannot be his best if his boss is an "incurable critic" and never gives him credit for anything he does right. Wives get equally discouraged if their husbands are forever fault finding and refuse to concede that they have at least tried. Once an adult or a child gets the "oh, what's-the-use" feeling, not only interest but willingness to work vanishes with a crisp. It is almost impossible to revive a real live attitude toward duty.

This does not mean that children do not need telling. I know what mischief they are up to anybody and all their characteristics. Their failings and disobediences need picking up certainly when there is something wrong when this becomes the very air they breathe.

MEANT FOR THE BEST

Parents mean it all for the best, of course, and it is chiefly their sense of responsibility and a desire to bring out the good in their offspring that underlies their tendency to criticize. The thing to remember, however, is that there is a difference between helping a child to do better and henpecking him because he doesn't.

Few mothers go about teaching thoroughness in daily tasks. They don't look three bottles and I feel like a new woman."

LITTLE CHATS ABOUT HEALTH

Dangers That Can't Be Seen . . .

Many chronic disorders which appear perfectly sound are sometimes dangerously weakened by certain parasites which work out of sight on the inside.

Their actions are much like those of Bright's Disease, various heart troubles and other dangerous conditions which so often are unsuspected.

There is a sure way to detect and head off the latter. Go to your Physician at least once a year for a check-up on your general physical condition.

Many a latent trouble can be combatted successfully when it is known to exist.

Give your physician every opportunity to protect your health—call him promptly whenever illness threatens.

HERE'S CASE OF WORKING WIFE

Of all things in the world that peeve women, nothing so infuriates them and makes them see red as the status of the domestic woman. Of course, traditionally the wife and mother is the paragon of her sex. Statesmen have declared that the hand that rocks the cradle rules the world. So many bards have harped her glory that there is a whole school of mother songs. From time immemorial novelists have taken wifely devotion and mother love as the theme of their stories, but in real life the domestic woman is only too often the forgotten woman.

Dorothy Dix

Everybody takes her virtues for granted. No one gives three cheers for her achievements, though often they are so wonderful as to put her in the miracle-worker's class. No other human being on earth works such long hours or so hard as does the poor woman who washes and cooks and scrubs and sews and mends and baby-tends and sick-nurses for a husband and a house full of children, and who, after having performed all of this superhuman labor, is not regarded as having even earned her board and keep.

She is spoken of as "being supported." She is not rated as following any gainful occupation, which Heaven knows is true enough in the great majority of cases, and she is supposed to be humbly grateful to the chivalrous man who married her and took her out of an office into a kitchen.

Now it is discouraging enough to have to work hours that would cause any labor-union member to go on strike without ever a sight of the money you earn, but the thing about it that riles women is that because they lack financial independence their husbands so often treat them with the contempt that is almost universally shown dependents.

It is a common thing, for instance, to hear a man speak to his wife as he would not think of speaking to any woman employe. Most men believe that marriage gives them the privilege of bossing their wives, and that as long as they pay their wives' bills their wives have to do pretty much as they please. "I support you," is the alibi that many a husband offers for his philandering.

And that was that, and, as a general thing, the woman has had to take it and appear to like it, but it seems that the self-supporting wives are staging a comeback and declaring that as long as they earn their own living they have a right to step out as much as they like and their husbands have no authority over them.

And this view of the matter has been upheld by a learned judge, who ruled that along with her pay envelope the working wife earned full personal liberty, and that the husband had no recourse when she went around with other men. Of course, if she "does him wrong," he could take his grievance to the divorce court, but as long as she was just the tired business woman seeking diversion she was within her right, and that was all there was to it.

One would say that this decision that gives the self-supporting wife rights that her dependent sister does not have would make every girl hold on to her job with one hand while she grasped her wedding ring with the other, except that women have always been willing to trade off freedom for love. So things will probably rock along just as they always have done.

DAILY TRUE STORY

ASSISTED BY LENA

By Carolyn Arden

State Trooper Johnson was an eyeful for any girl who admires a handseme man in trim uniform—and that just about includes every girl—as he stopped his motorcycle at the doorstep of Lena Morrisy's home.

Lena was doing something with long curved needle and colored yarn as she sat on the porch glider.

"Hi Honey!" was the greeting as he made the four steps in one light spring.

"Says you, Honey," Lena replied, glancing at him and applying herself, quite literally, to her knitting. "Says I, Honey. What's eating you?"

"Nice dance last Thursday—hope you enjoyed it."

"Oh, come now, that's what I hopped over for to explain—"

"No explanations wanted. You said you'd take me. I waited and waited and you didn't come and I had plenty chances to be taken—but you pop in and help yourself to a nice evening while I stay home, and if you think—"

"Now, wait, Lena. The chief blows up and calls me to come down on a pinch job. When he was in a rush and how would I look saying, 'Chief, I gotter telephone the girl I'm goin' to marry that I can't take her to th' dance'—how would I look, huh?"

"The girl you're going to marry —says you."

"Honest, I couldn't tip you and it took until two and then I went over—"

"And danced with Sadie Hawkins, I know."

"I went over thinkin' you might have gone anyway and I could have a dance with you and explain. Sadie is the Lieut's daughter, isn't she? And I'd look swell turnin' her down and me after a promotion through him."

"If you were as good a trooper as you are at faking excuses you'd be head of the whole outfit now, Mister James Johnson."

"Aw, listen, Honey. Say, we'll go to the dance tomorrow night and—"

"I'm going, with someone who won't stand me up, thank you."

All of Trooper's eloquence failed to alter this decision, and he departed unhappily. Lena wanted to sail back after him but she kept asking herself where her pride was. Besides, she wanted to teach him a lesson.

State Trooper Johnson was also at the dance, with Sadie, the daughter of Lieutenant Hawkins. Lena had danced once for him. He managed a word with her.

"Listen, Honey, Sadie's engaged, you know that. Her mama's purser on a liner and she's just along with me because she can't be expected to sit in a corner—"

"It's nothing to me, Mister Johnson."

And that made it appear to Trooper Johnson as though his friend Lieut. Hawkins' pretty Lena Morrisy would always be just that—a fond dream.

But Trooper Johnson wasn't one to give up easily. He telephoned Lena several times and it was always the same. She always said over the wire, "If you want to speak to Miss Morrisy, Mister Johnson, you have the wrong number."

Twice he called.

Sorry, Mr. Johnson, but I'm too busy to entertain," she told him each time.

Lena was sorry, a little later. She was just about ready to relent. She thought her "lesson" had been sufficiently severe. And then that prison-breaking Hixon gang was reported loose in the neighborhood and Trooper Johnson with his fellows and the local officials and some Federal officials were all out to get them — especially Slash Hixon, dead or alive—and preferably the former.

Hixon asked no questions. He swaggered here and there, terrorized everyone, shot first and asked if he were right after it, afterwards, if he asked at all. The sight of a John Law was the signal for him to start shooting. What was more, he shot straight.

Here and there they were on his trail, only to lose it.

Lena Morrisy was very much disturbed. Trooper Johnson in his gaudy State uniform would make a nice target for Hixon.

Lena tried to reach him at his home and at headquarters.

"He's out after Hixon," was all the information she could get.

For days the hunt was on. Reports came in, people robbed, people forced to put Hixon up. His gang had evidently fled but Hixon was still there, still making trouble, shooting now and then, several times fatally.

Lena could scarcely sleep. Suppose Jim was shot and died thinking she hated him!

She began to go out to Four Corners, to her father's big filling station, more than ever. Troopers with cars got their gas there and gave slips which the State paid the later. She might see Trooper Johnson.

She did see him one day. This time he had a car.

Lena saw him while he was getting gas and came out.

"Hello," Lena said, and smiled. Johnson was talking with her father.

"Oh, hello—" he turned to her father—"and you say it was an olive green car with an Ohio plate, Mr. Morrisy?"

"Olive green car, all right, but it had a Vermont plate."

"That's all right, he has a stack of plates. Which way did he go and how long ago?"

"River Road, last night about six."

"That long ago? Well, thanks." "Oh, Jim—"

But Trooper Johnson stepped on the gas and headed for the river road, not even hearing Lena.

She hung around in the office, greatly disturbed. She was getting ready to go home when her father said, "Watch the office for me until I get back. Smithy's sick and I got a green man on I don't know, he might clean the till and beat it."

Lena remained.

Now and then someone would stop for gas and oil and Lena made the change for the new men.

The new man came into the office and asked Lena if she smoked.

She did occasionally but had no cigarettes with her.

"Could I hop down to the store —won't take me ten minutes. I got to have my smokes," he said.

"Make it snappy," Lena ordered.

He took one of the station cars and started.

THE MESSAGE

And then an olive green car came in from the Ridge Road. New the River Road led around to the Ridge Road. What was more, Lena, who went out, caught sight of a belt and the butt of a gun as the man said, "Fill her up, sister, and hurry."

She did so, trying not to show her fright.

"A dollar seventy-one," she said.

"Nuts, sister. I'm Hixon, and if you wasn't a dame I'd take what's in your cash register."

"Yes, sir, all right. Shall I give you some air for that soft rear tires?"

He leaned over to see if the tire was too soft, and then everything went black with him, due to a large Stilson wrench that Lena smashed down on his head. Then she got some tire chains around him and took his gun and telephoned headquarters for Jim. He was at dinner, he learned. She telephoned him to rush out and added, "If you love me, Jim, don't stall."

Jim loved her. He dashed out there and took a look at Mr. Hixon, who was rolling around trying to get loose from tire chains.

"Look here," Lena whispered, "you smacked him down from behind. You were hiding here all the time to catch him. If it is known I caught him you boys will get laughed at."

"But—but Honey, the five thousand reward? I couldn't—"

"You could, and then I can use it to furnish our cottage with—unless you are too dumb to know you love me enough to marry me."

You can furnish the interior of a little new cottage beautifully with five thousand, and have some left over.

Jim and Lena did.

Move Made For Cenotaph

SIX LOCATIONS IN SIGHT FOR SOLDIER SHAFT

Active Campaign to Raise Funds to be Started Soon

Fired by enthusiasm to commence active campaigning to raise funds with which to erect a cenotaph in memory of this city's war dead, the Citizens' Cenotaph Committee of Edmonton met at the Canadian Legion Memorial Hall on Wednesday night under the chairmanship of A. E. Nightingale.

Main discussion centred around the proposed site of the cenotaph, the ways and means of raising the required funds to erect it.

Six sites formed the basis of the greater part of the discussion. They are:

SITES SUGGESTED

Opposite the court house at the corner of 100 street and 102A avenue.

North West Corner, Market Square.

Corner Jasper avenue and Howard avenue, between Bank of Nova Scotia and Bank of Toronto buildings.

Opposite the Memorial Hall.

On the triangle at the intersection of 100 avenue and 102 street.

On 109 street, immediately north of Jasper.

Several other sites were mentioned, but were not discussed at any length.

No definite decision was made by the meeting and it was decided that further discussion would take place.

FOR REMEMBRANCE DAY

Capt. W. K. C. Adams, chairman of the sites committee, estimated that it would take about one month to construct the cenotaph and the general opinion was that work should be pushed sufficiently to have it completed by next Remembrance Day.

Discussing ways and means of bringing the campaign for funds before the public and of raising the funds, suggestions were made that the daily newspapers be approached to open subscription lists, that stores contribute a portion of their advertising space, that, theatres run lantern slides and allow a few moments for speakers; placing of chained collection boxes at selected spots in city stores; announcements from church pulpits and co-operation from community leagues and service clubs.

Secretary Godfrey Henderson was instructed to communicate with service clubs and all other organizations in the city with a view to securing their co-operation.

The meeting was reminded that the objective for the cenotaph is $10,000 and it was the general opinion that a week's intensive campaign should be made to raise the necessary money, although it was not expected that the campaign would be started to that time.

In adjourning the meeting, Mr. Nightingale stated the committee would meet again on July 11.

NOTED CRIMINAL LAWYER DEFENDS MRS. H. WALEY

SEATTLE, June 27—John F. Dore who once got a $50,000 fee in a divorce case, set out Wednesday on a job that will pay nothing—defending Mrs. Harmon M. Waley in the George Weyerhaeuser kidnapping case.

Dore said Mrs. Waley, who tried vainly to plead guilty on three occasions, was eager to defend herself. Her husband pleaded guilty late last week and was sentenced to 45 years in prison.

Former mayor of Seattle and "champion of the people", the 53-year-old Dore has tried 32 murder cases and a client had been hanged.

Dore went to Federal Judge E. E. Cushman and offered to help Mrs. Waley without charge. "I don't believe Mrs. Waley guilty of active participation in the kidnapping of the Weyerhaeuser boy," he said.

The trial will open in Tacoma, July 9.

Canadian Ship Total Loss On Japan Reef

VANCOUVER, June 27 — The Canadian freighter, SS. City of Victoria of the British Canadian Steamships Ltd., which went aground on rocks near Cape Yerimo Light, Kokkaido, Japan, in rough seas and heavy fog Friday is a total loss, the steamship company was informed Wednesday.

The vessel left Vancouver May 28 with a cargo of lumber for Tsingtao and Tacu-Bar, China. Both the vessel and her cargo were insured. The company reported underwriters are calling for tenders for the wreck.

Of 5,066 tons gross register, the vessel was built here in 1920. She was on regular service between Vancouver and the Orient.

SS. City of Vancouver, sister ship which had been standing by in the hope of rendering assistance, is proceeding here with officers of the wrecked vessel aboard.

Deluge Soaks Paris Boulevards

PARIS, June 27.—A deluge said to be the most severe in memory fell on Paris last night, inundating streets, flooding cellars, forming veritable lakes in low sections and disrupting traffic.

The downpour, which lasted 30 minutes, sent pedestrians rushing to cover and cleared cafe terraces.

Versailles was hit by the same downpour. Many trees were uprooted and the famous rose gardens were transformed into lakes.

Lady Furness Poses With Her Son

Thelma, Viscountess Furness, American-born London socialite, poses below with her son, Anthony. The boy is grandson of the founder of Furness ship line. His mother came to the United States last winter to aid her sister, Mrs. Gloria Morgan Vanderbilt, in the vain fight to regain custody of young Gloria.

Farmer Runs Elusive Pig

Exhausted, Is Easy Prey To Sour Milk Bait

Ragged, Then Sets Trap

VICTORIA, June 27.—The elusive pig of Alta Lake has been caught. A bear-trap and some sour milk proved the porker's downfall and a drug furnished by the British Columbia department of agriculture came too late.

Four weeks ago an Alta Lake farmer wrote to the department asking for help in catching the pig which had escaped from a shipping crate. All efforts to capture the hugh, but wily, animal had failed.

Agricultural experts prescribed a drug expected to induce a deep sleep after being mixed with the pig's food. On the day the drug arrived, however, the farmer received success.

He had chared the pig all day, tiring it considerably. The porkers nimble wits were dulled and he did not suspect the appetizing dish of milk beside a carefully laid bear trap.

The farmer returned the drug to the department with gracious thanks for the trouble taken by authorities.

Men On Tiny Mid-Sea Isles Study Airways

WASHINGTON, June 27 — A group of men on each of three tiny islands in the Pacific midway between Hawaii and Australia, were disclosed at the commerce department Wednesday to be conducting a survey of "down under" air routes of the future.

Reg Smith, assistant director of air commerce who returned last week from Honolulu, said the work was "progressing satisfactorily" on these tiny islands which otherwise are uninhabited.

Originally discovered and claimed by Americans, they are being developed "for the day" as they may be in providing emergency landing stations on liner of flights from Hawaii to American and foreign territory to the south and southwest.

ALL CHINESE CHILDREN TO GET FREE SCHOOLING

NANKING, China, June 27.—A plan under which by 1944 all school children will be assured of four years of free education has been submitted to the executive Yuan here by the ministry of education, and will probably be enacted as a compulsory law.

Since funds are lacking for the immediate launching of a plan for universal compulsory free education at this time, it is proposed to start in a small way. Beginning in late August of this year, to July, 1940, one year of free schooling is to be provided for every child in China.

A second period, by which time it is hoped more funds will be available will run from August, 1940, to July, 1944, and during that time all children are to have two years free schooling. It is planned that after the summer of 1944 there will be money enough to give all children four years' free schooling. Meanwhile more than 200,000 new teachers will have to be trained.

Peace Garden Land Transfer

BRANDON, Man., June 27.—Transfer of 2,000 acres of Manitoba government land to directors of the International Peace Garden in the Turtle Mountain Reserve was officially completed Wednesday. The land will be utilized to extend the garden on the Canadian side of the international boundary.

SUCH IS LIFE—By Walt Munson

LONE SENATE VOICE RAPS TRADES BILL

Montreal Conservative Senator Delivers Appeal For Good Business

OTTAWA, June 27.—Lifting a voice for "good business" which he said had not been heard for some time in a legislature, Senator C. C. Ballantyne (Cons., Montreal) Wednesday in the Senate criticized measures to establish a Dominion trade and industry commission and amend the criminal code. The two bills are based on recommendations of the royal commission on price spreads.

If the two bills were approved without amendments, they would result in increasing the cost of living, increase the price of commodities purchased by the average householder and increase imports of goods from other countries into Canada, the Montreal senator claimed.

Senator James Murdock, Ottawa, former Liberal minister of labor and Hon. R. B. Horner, farmer Conservative senator from Saskatchewan, cautioned the legislation.

"If ever anything was desired in Canada it is a determined, honest and upright experienced board that will deal with those instances that ought to be dealt with under the Combines Investigation Act," Senator Murdock stated in directing particular attention to the bill to transfer administration of the Combines Investigation Act from the Minister of Labor to the proposed Dominion trade and industry commission.

WEDDINGS OF CONVICTS ARE NOW COMMON

convicts to Devil's Island 20 years ago, and now there are less than 30 in the whole place, but in the Andamans, which rise in the middle of the storm swept Bay of Bengal, they still send them by the boatload.

And when male convicts, locked up for life, meet female convicts for life 15 years, what happens?

Do they have to pine for each other and go into a sleepless decline while starting through steel bars hoping for an acquaintance?

They do not.

They are encouraged to meet and marry, and I have just spent a snappy evening with the official encouragement.

Just now there are about 7,000 convicts in the Andamans, of whom, roughly, 5,100 are men from all parts of India. Great bearded giants from the golden plains of Baluchistan work side by side with silky-faced sissy boys from the Burmese lowlands.

Afridi raiders from Khyber's murder belt share corridors with shrunken idealists from the hot south, whose only crime has been frantic shrieking for an independent India.

POISON-MIXERS

But the heart interest and news interest is in the women. Nearly 2,000 of these are on the islands now. Thieves and killers and mixers of poison brew; a few bomb tossers, several coy Assamese convicted of killing the brains and later the bodies of white lovers to prevent their return to the home land.

There are several black-toothed Kachin women from the mountains of upper Burma, where head hunting is still an active art, and a few horse-faced tribal matriarchs who were too quick on the trigger and too accurate on the sights to please the powers.

One highly intelligent group consists entirely of young university women. Four years ago they pledged themselves into a blood sorority and started the regulation of the British from Bengal, and managed, before they were caught, to kill dozens of officials.

They had their aim been steadier they would have killed two governors. These girls are now the prize rockets of the weekly parade of love.

This procession is something you will not see on any other island in the world. It comes off Thursday evening because Thursday is not holy to Hindoo, Mohammedan, Sikh, Pathan, Christian or Buddhist. Five thousand rough and ready Indian lovers are started walking, leisurely, in one direction. From the other come the women—about 2,000 of these.

HARD TO IDENTIFY

As they pass the boys and girls can ogle and flirt and make signs but can't talk or talk back. Not a sound. If they see something they would just love to have as their fancy and approach the official fixer-upper. The first problem is to identify the light of love. They don't know her name, she wears no number and no distinctive clothes.

But love overcomes such trifles as identity, and the girl is looked up in records and by the time she gets to the Andamans she is engaged to marry the engagement being approved by her parents at home.

To these goes a letter explaining that a life prisoner is keen to marry their daughter, and what do the parents think about that for an idea? The parents are generally quite agreeable or else they are pretty mad about things and don't even answer the letter.

Meantime, of course, the weekly parade goes on, still going on when there is only one mail boat to and from the Andamans a month, so that many another young blood has spotted the same girl and fell his heart go bumpety bump before the letter gets back. This is the point where the official matrimonial fixer-upper has to use all his tact. He didn't tell me just how it was done, but he generally manages, somehow or other, to keep everybody happy.

"Do your prisoners generally marry within their own religion and caste?" I asked.

"No," the fixer-upper said. "That's one of the most interesting things. Once a man gets sent out to the Andamans for life he seems to forget both religion and caste.

"I was sort of fairy godfather to more than 200 convict weddings lately and practically all of them were out of caste and out of tribe."

The fixer explained that little Burmese girls were often chosen by great high headed Punjabi raiders while some of the smallest men Gurkhas for instance, often wanted big Sikh or Afghan women.

"Are the girls always agreeable?"

"No; particularly the women of the north. They're almost unfeminine, surly and vicious. The light of hatred never leaves their eyes."

"And what about a man who has a wife back home . . . if he's out on the islands for life can he pick another?"

"Oh, yes, back home he may have up to four. If he wants another on the islands, and everything is agreeable, he has what he wants." This is a piker's trick, however. There are not enough women to go around.

PAID FOR WORK

On the Andamans, as on Devil's Island, all convicts, either men of women, are paid for their work. Likewise they are fed, so far as their religion permits, the same food as native troops get. The main difference is only a technical difference. In the Andamans there are no white people; in Devil's Island there are thousands.

In the Andamans a convict, once he has served his time, is free to go home or anywhere else he likes. On Devil's Island a man, unless sent out for five years or less is doomed to remain on the island forever after.

As it turns out, however, not five per cent of Andaman prisoners ever go back to their homes again. They get to know the place; they get jobs, raise families, and take to farming back in the hills.

Just now there are 5,000 people on the island who were born and raised there, the offspring of convicts. There are a strange new race of people; bigger than the southern Hindoo, darker than the mountain raider, but wiry as a Nepalese knife thrower.

The total population of these islands is about 19,000, of whom 7,000 are prisoners, 7,000 their children, and 2,000 a wild gazan people living in the high mountains.

WOMEN BEST ESCAPERS

On a percentage basis, strangely enough, women escape twice as fast and twice as easily as men do. My friend the marriage fixer-upper was also suggestate on the place. He said-persuaded for prisoner, women get into twice as many flights from the islands as men did. The explanation for both is sex appeal. On the mainland of this amazing country women rate lower than the Boston Braves. They are disgraced and outlawed if they don't produce sons, instead if their husbands die and if they live compelled to wail on them hand and foot, night and day.

But on the islands where women are scarce all this high and mighty rigmarole is chucked overboard and women are sought as companions and sweethearts. Fishermen, who are not allowed near the islands, frequently risk their skins to help a girl off.

Not that it matters, but the tradition has arisen among the civil population that murderers make the best cooks.

ASTONISHING EVENTS

Astonishing events occur at the bridge table. A reader offers an example of such strange events in his description of what took place with the deal shown today.

To say the least the bidding was unusual. South, 1-club; north, 2-spades; south, 3-clubs; north, 3-spades all of which might take place at any table, although North might have bid 2-hearts after having shown his great spade strength, at which he should readily have made South then came the amazing part of the bidding South, 4-clubs; partner's 5-spades; North, 6-hearts, ending the auction without a double.

Give South credit for the skill displayed in playing the hand. The opening lead was the 8 of spades, dummy's 10 was won by declarer's jack of diamond; the Q of spades was covered with East's K. South ruffed. He led a single winning club, to rid dummy of its losing diamond. Then a low diamond put dummy in the lead.

The special trick dummy's lowest spade was led. East followed suit. The declarer ruffed with 8 ace, then led back his 9 of trumps and overtook with dummy's 10, which held the trick. He then went with the deuce of clubs.

The K and Q of hearts picked up all except a single trump. Dummy's last trump was the ace of spades, and the 3 of hearts. Spades were led until East ruffed with the only defensive trick. Whatever West led back dummy could ruff and the small slam was made. It was an amazing result from a bid made upon only 2 trumps.

Had North placed the hand at even 4-hearts he would have had his troubles had either minor suit been utilized for an opening lead. I see no opening lead, except a low spade, which would have yielded North as favorable results at hearts as South obtained. An opening trump lead would have been very unpleasant. The best result came about through South's strange call of 4-hearts.

LEAGUE HITS EXTRA COSTS FOR MILITIA

Denouncing the Dominion government for increasing the appropriation for militia purposes, and laying plans for a petition of 1,000,000 signatures against war which is expected to be laid before federal authorities on August 4, the Edmonton Conference of the Canadian League Against War and Fascism met in the Masonic Temple, Wednesday night. S. A. G. Barnes occupied the chair.

The meeting was called primarily for the purpose of reorganizing the league, increasing its strength and broadening its activities. Thirty-nine organizations were represented at the gathering including 19 trade unions, three political parties and many mass associations.

It was decided to hold a tag day this coming Saturday with a view to raising funds for the league's work.

Double Session With Many Important Papers To Mark Close of Annual Meeting at University.

Producing areas of southern Saskatchewan, wracked by drouth for the past few years, have not been permanently affected by lack of moisture, Hon. G. Taggart, minister of agriculture in the province of Saskatchewan, told a meeting of the Canadian Society of Technical Agriculturists in University of Alberta Convocation Hall Wednesday afternoon.

The society, in convention here since Monday, will conclude its sessions for its 1934-35 annual meeting Thursday afternoon.

Authorities who lament government expenditure of $50,000,000 in southern Saskatchewan last year lose sight of the fact that value of produce normally grown in the region is $60,000,000 annually.

In explanation of the affected drouth areas, grain growing will be the type of agriculture that will be chiefly fostered, but other types of farming will be followed as a result of supplementary revenue, stated the Saskatchewan minister.

Alberta's experience with irrigation as a remedy for drouth does not warrant extensive use of artificial watering; returns are not proportional to the necessary investments for working of a suitable scheme.

CONSERVATIVE WAY BEST

"I think it will be conceded by all hands that the expenditures in irrigation projects in Alberta have been out of all proportion to the benefits derived from irrigation. Thirty years experience in your province does not hold out much hope of solving the agricultural problems of our affected areas by this method."

Conservation of water for crop production by dry farming methods is the most important way of improving stability and productivity of the drouth areas, said Mr. Taggart. With an average rainfall it should be possible to produce sufficient water for crop growth by this means.

Crop rotations will not solve the problem of soil drifting or any

ROTARY CHIEF'S LAST MEETING

Presiding over his last meeting of the Rotary Club of Edmonton at which he occupied the chair as president, Colin MacKenzie reviewed the progress made by the club and its accomplishments over the past year, when Rotarians were in attendance at a luncheon meeting held in the cafe dining hall of the Macdonald hotel at noon Thursday.

Given a presentation by the club, Mr. MacKenzie, who succeeded as club president by Ray Staples at the Fourth District convention held in Edmonton a short time ago, introduced the new official.

Secretary-treasurer Joseph Phillips outlined the financial standing of the club during the year and at the present time, while retiring president Colin MacKenzie presented mementos of Rotarian highlights during the past season.

President-elect Joe Staples was given a big hand by the members when he presented Ray Staples, district governor, with a gift in the same progressive manner, as Mr. MacKenzie displayed during his term.

MAN ARRESTED AT CALMAR ON MURDER COUNT

Nick Chopik Charged With Poisoning Eugene Zaharko; Triangle Seen

CALMAR, June 27.—Nick Chopik, farm laborer who had occasionally boarded at the home of Tom Mudry, was arrested and charged following the inquest Wednesday into the death of Eugene Zaharko, aged 4, on June 17, from eating poisoned candy.

The inquest jury's verdict, returned to Dr. E. A. Braithwaite, chief coroner, who presided, was that the boy died at 9:40 p.m., June 17, from eating a strychnine-poisoned chocolate bar on the premises of Tom Mudry of Calmar.

Chopik, following his arrest, was immediately taken to Leduc, where he was arraigned before Magistrate Robert Young and remanded for preliminary hearing in Calmar on July 4. He is now held at R. C. M. P. cells in Edmonton.

NO CHECK ON SCHOOL COST FIGURES HERE

Stating that the figures on school costs in Edmonton and Calgary, given prominence at a recent C.G.A. meeting, cannot be checked, as their source was not named, school board officials state that they are entirely out of line with the 1934 official figures. The per pupil cost in Edmonton is shown to be less than in Calgary in recent statements. Secretary H. G. Turner, on instructions of the public school board here, has issued the following statement:

"Wednesday's Bulletin contains a report of the meeting of the Civic Government Association in which it is stated that one of the speakers quoted figures to the effect that the average salary paid to teachers on the Calgary school staff was $1,633, while that of the Edmonton teacher was $2,068, and that the per capita cost of educating a student in Calgary was $85 against $96 in Edmonton. No information was given as to show how these figures were compiled, or the source from which they were obtained. We are therefore unable to verify them.

"We have, however, referred to the last published annual reports (Dec. 31, 1934) of the two boards from which it is ascertained that the average salary of the Calgary teachers is $1,785 and the cost per pupil $68.01. Corresponding figures from the Edmonton report show the average salary to be $1,891 and the cost per pupil $87.77.

figures are all for the year ending December 31, 1934."

Police Court

Picked up on 105 street when he was reported to be begging, Felix Bruns was sentenced to three months in Fort Saskatchewan jail on a vagrancy charge.

John Rees, 18-year-old youth who was said to have followed the circus to Edmonton, arrested when he was found breaking into stores search for the price of a meal, received an adjournment for a week on a charge of vagrancy. He said his home was in Armstrong, B.C.

On two charges of forging cheques, Peter Menyluk received a further adjournment until July 4.

Four motorists paid $3 and costs or five days for failing to obey stop signs. Another was fined $2 for failing to report an accident.

An unlicensed magazine salesman paid $3 and costs for his omission.

For allowing a dog to run at large one citizen paid $1 and costs, while another received an adjournment.

Adjournment to July 5 was given John Manzawitz, reappearing on a false pretences charge.

Gleaned From Today's News

D. A. Kirkland, Edmonton manager of Henry Birks and Sons, Limited, has returned to the city from a buying trip in eastern Canada.

Clearing house figures for the week ending Thursday, June 27, were $3,411,438.47, compared with $3,151,476.65 for the corresponding week in 1934.

H. A. Chapman, of Mirror, told police that some person opened the flap of his tent at the South Side auto camp about 2 a.m. Thursday, stealing a suitcase packed with clothes. The property was valued at about $100. Youths who broke into McKay avenue school last week-end stole $1 in change.

Meeting for discussion of school problems and to exchange ideas on field work, Public and High school inspectors and Normal school instructors are holding a four-day session at the legislative buildings. In all there are 29 inspectors and instructors, provincial and municipal, practically all of whom are present.

Canadian National Railway is despatching an excursion train to Alberta Beach and Lac Ste. Anne Monday, June 30, weather permitting. The train will leave in the morning and return in the evening. Special trains to Seba Beach and Lake Wabamun is being offered by Central Canadian Greyhound Lines.

LOCAL BLIND NOW MAKING COTTON MOPS

First class cotton string mops are now being manufactured by the blind of Edmonton in a workshop of the Northern Alberta section of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind in the courthouse.

The mops, which are attractively colored in blue and gold, can easily be identified by the label on the handle, which reads: "Blindcraft—Made by a Blind Man."

Thursday morning superintendent were invited to witness the manufacture of these mops. Each mop is turned out in a surprisingly short time on the modern lathe, powered by an electric motor.

At the regular monthly meeting of the Northern Alberta section the manufacture of mops was the chief item under discussion.

It is pointed out that members of the institute do not solicit orders over the telephone nor do they have any salesmen canvas from door to door.

Present at the recent meeting were: Dr. A. T. Bazin, Dr. C. E. Brien, H. H. Cooper, Howard Sturtevant, Alberta trade commissioner and executive officer D. M. Macalister.

National Trust Now Administers Business Blocks

Appointed executors, with J. E. Wallbridge, K.C., as solicitor, of the late Hyatt Cox, well known Edmonton resident, the National Trust Company Ltd. has now taken over the management of the various business blocks and apartment houses formerly controlled by the Northern Investment Co., Ltd.

As president and majority shareholder of the Northern Agencies Ltd., which controlled the Northern Investment Co., Ltd., which in turn dealt with the properties in question, Mr. Cox was holder of the largest interests in the buildings, and as his executors the National Trust Company, Ltd., will now take over their administration.

Funeral Services For D. D. Chisholm

The funeral services of Duncan D. Chisholm, 78, who died at his residence, 8634 106 A avenue, June 18, were held from the home to the Sacred Heart church early this week.

Interment was in the family plot of the Roman Catholic Cemetery, with the Right Reverend O'Gorman officiating. Mr. Duncan is survived by his wife; one daughter, Margaret; and four sons, Duncan F. and Dan A. Chisholm of Edmonton, John Chisholm of Seattle, Wash., and Peter A. Chisholm of New York. Connelly and McKinley were funeral directors. (Anligonish, Nova Scotia, papers please copy.)

Hitch-Hiking To San Jose, Calif.

Thomas M. Gorst of Watrous, Sask., is an Edmonton visitor, hay-hitch-hiked the 900-odd miles. While he likes Edmonton, his heart is away down south, 52 miles below San Francisco, where the avenues are wide and palm-lined, for it is there, in the city of San Jose that he longs to be as quickly as possible.

Mr. Gorst sells religious books and "Mendits" along the road but the real secret of his pilgrimage is that he yearns to attend a big conference at Rosicrucian Headquarters in San Jose.

He has faith enough to suggest that somebody will give him a lift along the road toward the coast if the Bulletin would publish this—and he will sit and wait in room 27, Salvation Army Citadel, resolute in his faith and determined upon "San Jose or Bust."

THE INQUIRING REPORTER

Do you approve of the erection of a cenotaph here and where do you think it should be located?

A. Citizens' Cenotaph Committee is at work organizing a campaign to raise funds for erection of a memorial to this city's War Dead. One of the most involved questions affecting the project is the site. The Inquiring Reporter sought some opinions on the subject and here are replies:

BERT LAING, returned man: "Erection of a cenotaph, in my estimation is long overdue and I hope and feel confident the people of Edmonton will support the campaign whole-heartedly. I think the most logical selection of a site is on the Memorial Hall grounds, while my second choice would be at the triangle at the junction of 100 avenue, 102 street and Macdonald Drive. Both of these sites are excellent and with little improvement I feel that Memorial Hall grounds would make a splendid choice."

WILLIAM "BILL" COOPER, returned man and business man: "There is no doubt about the desirability of having a cenotaph. Like all returned men, I am sure, I feel that this should be done without delay. My logical selection is on McDougall avenue, near the court house. This spot is passed by thousands every day."

TOM MCLENNAN, business man: "I have read the several sites recommended at the citizens' committee meeting and my own personal choice would be in front of the Memorial Hall. However, there are several good suggestions and I wish the campaign every success."

FAIL REVEAL POISON TRACE

Complete examination by J. A. Kelso, provincial analyst, has failed to reveal any trace of poison in the body of Bohuslaw Szaszkewych, former major-general in the Austrian army who fought to repel Communist invasion of the Ukraine and interpreter here for the city relief department, it was announced Thursday.

Although Dr. John MacGregor, assistant pathologist at the University of Alberta, who performed an autopsy, has not yet made a report to city police on the cause of death, it is the opinion of officials that death was from natural causes. Mr. Szaszkewych died Saturday at his home in violent convulsions, telling his wife he believed he had been poisoned.

Usury In Control Would Wreck Nation Says Liberal Chief

W. R. Howson, K.C., Tells Meeting Liberal Party Pledged to Support Publicly-owned Central Bank

Declaring that usury in control would wreck any nation, W. R. Howson, K.C., provincial Liberal leader, in addressing a meeting at Forest Heights on Wednesday night stressed the fact that the Liberal party was pledged to support a publicly-owned national bank under control of the nation's government.

Mr. Howson was supported on the platform by the other Liberal candidates for Edmonton seats at the coming provincial general election, George H. Van Allen, K.C., C. Gerald O'Connor, Mrs. Marion Conroy, Dr. Walter Morrish and Jack Marshall. D. Walter Thomson, president of the Edmonton Provincial Liberal Association also were present.

RAISE LIVING STANDARD

Stressing the fight being made by the Liberal party for monetary reform, Mr. Howson declared that the Liberals' idea of a central bank was that it should "issue national currency and credit and manage the monetary system in terms of public need, for the purpose of raising the standard of living of the people and for the further purpose of advancing the economic security of the social system and the stability of the nation."

Mr. Howson contended that "until the control of the issue of currency and credit is restored to the government and recognizes as its prime consequences and sacred responsibility all talk of the sovereignty of parliament and of democracy is idle and futile."

CREDIT PUBLIC MATTER

The Liberal party he declared "believes that credit is a public matter and of interest not to any only but of direct concern to the average citizen and it stands for the immediate establishment of a properly constituted national bank to perform the functions of rediscount and the control of currency issue considered in terms of public need."

He contended that "a central bank is necessary to determine the supply of currency in relation to the requirements of the industrial requirements of the Canadian people and also to deal with the problems of international commerce and exchange."

AUDIENCES CAUTIONED

Mr. Howson dealt briefly with social credit and cautioned his audience to be wary of anything that promised something for nothing, but while the Liberal party was open minded regarding new ideas, this was one that had to be carefully considered and it would be wiser to scan any such proposals carefully before ratifying them.

Mrs. Conroy dealt specifically with women's matters, while other candidates spoke of current public questions and problems.

CALGARY FIRM REFUSES TALK PROPOSED PACT

Unwilling to Give Edmonton Suggested Interchange Agreement

Communication virtually refusing to consider the city's suggestion that an interchange agreement similar to that existing between the Calgary Power Co. and the City of Lethbridge be offered Edmonton, was presented Wednesday night to the city's sub-committee on the power question by H. H. Parlee, K.C., local legal counsel for the company.

Dealing with the company's unwillingness to enter into such a pact with Edmonton, Mr. Parlee and G. H. Thompson, Calgary Power official, said the plan could not be considered owing to the difference in the power conditions as existing between the company and Lethbridge and Edmonton. The sub-committee was advised the power firm would be willing to make further submissions in an effort to arrive at a satisfactory agreement.

E. L. Gray May Possibly Resign as Deputy Minister

Chairman of the Alberta Assessment Commission and former deputy minister of municipal affairs, W. D. Spence will retire on superannuation from the provincial civil service in the near future, it was learned on reliable authority on Thursday.

THE green turtle is more highly prized for food than any other member of the sea turtle family. It reaches a weight of about 700 pounds, but usually is caught in sizes of less than 100 pounds. It makes excursions on shore to lay its eggs, and these trips frequently have fatal endings.

Inquiry Political Jab At Stevens Says Counsel

STATES SOME INCIDENTS TO PROVE CHARGE

Final Session on Defunct Finance Corp. Probe Warms Up

TORONTO, June 27.—The name of Hon. H. H. Stevens, former director, was mentioned 39 times in the inquiry of J. M. Godfrey, Ontario securities commissioner, into the defunct Manufacturers Finance Corporation as efforts of single occasion reference was made to any of the other directors, Norman Somerville of Toronto, Mr. Stevens' counsel, charged Wednesday at the closing session of the inquiry.

Mr. Somerville contended also commission counsel withheld certain letters written by Mr. Stevens and produced others, for further ing the political ends of certain people."

OFFICIAL DENIAL

As far as he was concerned, said the commissioner, there had been nothing political about the inquiry. Commission counsel also denied the charge.

A letter written by Mr. Stevens bearing the suggestion he had received 400 shares of preferred stock in the corporation had been read at Tuesday's session "for furthering the political ends of certain people," said Mr. Somerville.

Mr. Stevens, he said, had made a verbal offer to take the shares when he heard a proposal to open an office in Vancouver for discounting automobile paper but the office was not opened, and no allotment of shares was made.

LETTER WITHHELD

Mr. Somerville said commission counsel had not entered as evidence a letter Mr. Stevens wrote in 1930 to G. T. Clarkson, liquidator of the corporation, waiving his rights to apply for statutory limitations in any action that might be taken by the liquidator.

Counsel for Mr. Stevens also read into the records a letter in which Mr. Stevens offered to guarantee repayment of $3,000 to collect obligations of the Quebec Realty Company, a subsidiary of Manufacturers' Finance. The offer was made conditional upon receiving a mortgage for $114,000 on certain property in Montreal.

RETIREMENT WIRE

Summer Sweethearts

BEGIN HERE TODAY

KATHARINE STRYKHURST, beautiful 20, is accustomed to every luxury. Daughter of social aristocrats that make up her life, her father and aristocratic grandson, BERTINI, refuse to let Katharine undertake anything.

Katharine rides daily with MICHAEL HEATHROPE, young westerner who runs a riding club, SALLY HOGG, local coquette, also enrols at the club for riding lessons.

CARL PARKER, Katharine's friend, returns from Europe where she was sent to forget a love affair with GIBBS LARKIN, of whom her parents disapprove. Zoe is still in love with Gibbs. He comes to see her and Katharine, against her will, accompanies him to visit Zoe.

DR. JOHN KAYE, a relative of Bertine's, visits the Strykhursts.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER IX

AFTER the fog the morning was crisp and cool and invigorating. There was a blue sky, high ruffled clouds, and a breeze blowing over the harbor.

Katharine dressed hurriedly, after a hot shower. Carp were like persons—moody!

Good morning, Michael.

"Mornin', Miss Strykhurst!" He stood smiling at her readily, one hand braced against the rail fence, much relieved the shades of the old Bertini palace.

"I thought I'd ride," Katharine said demurely.

"Oh splendid. Fury's rarin' to be off. Tips!" he called to the boy whose steps could be heard on the stable floor. "Bring Fury out, will you?"

"How do you think I'm doing?" Katharine inquired, of her progress as horsewoman. There had been many animated conversations between them all spring concerning her progress; she was determined now to have the relationship based upon its old, safe footing—that of pupil and teacher.

"Oh, you're grand," he said simply. "I noticed the other day . . ."

Something within her exulted. "Michael, when you say 'you're grand' like that you sound a wee bit Irish."

His gaze left her. She was conscious of having overstepped the bounds.

"I'm from Montana."

Of course, I hadn't forgotten that."

Why did he mind her saying he was Irish? Why did he withdraw so completely and coldly at the suggestion? That was rather an insult.

They rode together, as before Katharine chatted lightly and Michael Heathrope answered. Once or twice his great laugh rang out. He went ahead when the bridle path narrowed, glancing back over his shoulder to see if Fury behaved well.

Oh, she's all right, really," Katharine protested.

She thought of Zoe and the fever that had suffered her quiet active. She thought of Gibbs Larkin with his head exploring dark eyes and his mouth outlining of fate waiting to consume, too-intimate voice. Poor Zoe! What was it going to come to?

She thought of John Kaye. Dear Johnny, he was so nice! The girl who married Johnny would be a lucky one. There would be no excitement, of course, but she would be secure.

All right!" That was Michael's voice. He had gone on rather far ahead and she had lost sight of him. She hallooed back reassuringly.

We'd better turn back. I have an appointment at nine."

Sally Moon! Well, what of it? But Katharine's exultation was gone for the instant. The morning had a cloud upon it.

"Much out for that dog," Michael warned as the path wound again into the open clearing, facing which one long white house glared down into the fertile valley. The terrier which had bothered Fury on the ride down was sitting on the bank, watching, sharp-eyed for his enemy. At first sight of the riders, the small hound had leaped forward like a streak down the precipitous slope, through thorn and berry bushes, to yelp frantically at Fury's feet below.

The little mare began to dance. She had been quiet before now, Michael, at some pains, had quieted her. But now her nervous gait increased and she danced sideways. Michael, wheeling Prince Charlie, made for Fury's bridle—missed it.

Katharine was not conscious of fear. Fury plunged forward at a violent rate, rearing and kicking, and the dog yelped despitefully.

Whoa, Fury! Steady there, girl!" Then the sickening consciousness of hurtling through the air at incredible speed; the damp earth and the grass rising up to meet one.

From a long way off, a voice reached her.

My darling!"

Michael's voice. Michael strong arms lifting her, caressing her. Katharine felt sure all were not broken. Ellen would be thankful, only dreadfully sore and shaken.

She opened her eyes.

People were running toward them; a truckman whose vehicle was halted near the field, people from the white house where the dog belonged . . . a woman in a striped gray and black tub-garb.

"Oh, is she badly hurt?"

The woman Katharine thought had a nice sort of face with wise, tired eyes. She was little plump, and stained all flowers blend but—and hair unbecomingly red.

Bring her up to the house, the woman said. To the dog, who had ceased to bark and now cowered naughtily in the hedges, she said soothingly: Bad beastly thief you!"

He'll be punished for this, he knows that," she told them, leading the procession. Katharine closed her eyes again. The footsteps had gone to hold Prince Charles Bridle. Some men down by the River Road had stopped Fury. It was very pleasant to be carried thus. Michael's arms were strong and gentle.

Katharine opened her eyes again. They were going up the steps of the white house now. Michael was passing through a doorway. The remodeled farmhouse was comfortable and homely. Michael went up a flight of steps and the woman directed him to lay Katharine on a bed.

The woman bent toward her anxiously. "Still all my aching?" she said in a gentle voice. "Are you very much hurt?"

Michael had disappeared—probably in this low-ceiled room, towered over her. His face was dar; with anxiety.

"—I don't believe so." Katharine said faintly.

"Your head's all right?" Michael knelt down by the bed when Mrs. Mercer went to telephone. They could hear her calling Dr. Cartwright down in the village.

"My boots will soil the spread," Katharine whispered. It was pleasant, having Michael so worried about her. Now he wouldn't be able to ride with Sally Moon. It was such a silly idea that Katharine should care about Heathrope watched that smile as a starving man might gaze at a loaf of bread.

"Oh, don't worry about that please," Mrs. Mercer cried, coming back. "The spread doesn't matter. Poor child. I do feel so awfully responsible. That bad dog . . ."

The children lurked in the doorway. They were sweet little girls, Katharine thought and decided, too, that they were the sort of home she would have liked to grow up in. Simple and sweet and good, with a mother who had kind, wise eyes like Mrs. Mercer.

"How about Fury?"

"He's all right," Michael told her. But his tone boded ill for Fury. Maybe she'd better scream it, after all; maybe he had actually called her "my darling."

Presently Dr. Cartwright came and examined her.

"She's had a nasty shock," he said, "but she seems to have come through it all right. You're a very lucky young lady," he told Katharine. "You might have had all sorts of broken bones."

"I'm from Montana."

Of course. I hadn't forgotten that."

Why did he mind her saying he was Irish? Why did he withdraw so completely and coldly at the suggestion? That was rather an insult.

They rode together, as before Katharine chatted lightly and Michael Heathrope answered. Once or twice his great laugh rang out. He went ahead when the bridle path narrowed, glancing back over his shoulder to see if Fury behaved well.

ter her shower, eager to be out and away. Ellen brought her a tray because the others were not yet stirring. There was crisp toast and clear coffee and strips of bacon under a silver bell.

Oh, Ellen, this is a divine breakfast."

You've got your appetite back, Miss. That's what's the matter."

It was the dog the hound in heavy weather, that had made her feel so happy and stupid. Katharine told herself. This morning she wanted to sing.

"Dr. Kaye packing?"

I might be so, Miss. I heard him mooning around in the summer-house."

Bertine was in the garden, a green room half a floor up because she used it was quieter. Will Kaye go away before Jenny Jones comes? It might would glad thing—she pondered—if she could not see Jenny Jones before she went. Better stay indoors till then, too.

The morning was clear, warmer, with a crystal air . . . Katharine stood on the opposite blade of grass very ready-to-pounce self-commanded her breakfast, too-intimate voice. Poor Zoe! What was it going to come to?

INTIMATE GLIMPSES AND INSIDE STUFF ON THE MOVIE COLONY

By DAN THOMAS

IT'S not every man who will admit his black eye was handed to him by his wife, but almost every man who will admit that he wife didn't know whom she was hitting. But that's the story Francis Lister and Margot Grahame are telling, just the same.

It seems that Margot was strolling along the beach at Malibu enjoying the sunshine. Suddenly she became aware that she was being followed—and by a man who kept making cutting remarks. Her first thought was to ignore him, hoping that would discourage him. But it didn't.

So she stopped suddenly, turned around, and let go with her right, the fist landing flush on the man's left eye. Then it turned out that the man was her husband, who merely was trying to rib her.

At least, that's their story. And they won't budge from it.

Despite the fact that Myrna Loy asked to be taken out at Marquette [illegible] every man who will admit that he was frustrated with William Powell, those two will continue making pictures together, according to a studio announcement. Two other films, "After the Thin Man" and "Black Chamber," already are being prepared for them.

Gloria Swanson is staging a comeback, between her work and Edgar Allan Woolf to see who can make the best cigarettes.

* * *

Ronald Colman will be minus his mustache again when he steps before the cameras in "The Tale of Two Cities." It will be his second appearance on the screen without his upper lip adornment, the first having been in "Clive of India."

AMUSEMENTS

RIALTO

Thrills, suspense, action and comedy sent the melodrama, "The Man Who Knew Too Much" racing at breakneck speed to a crashing climax.

This picture, at the Rialto thereafter today to Saturday, is the story of a gang of international crooks whose plans to kill a visiting diplomat are learned by an "average Englishman" and his wife, played by Leslie Banks and Nova Pilbeam.

To prevent the man from revealing his knowledge, the crooks kidnap two members of the family, a girl and her son, innocent bystanders, but deep manage to get a message to the husband. In a daring attempt to rescue the assassination, and enables the police to crack down on the gang.

"The Man Who Knew Too Much" is rich in the tone of life and mechanism fire, as police battle to save the beleaguered gang.

An unusually distinguished cast in "In Old Santa Fe," the added feature an the same program, is the forerunner of a new era of the popular "singing films."

Ken Maynard, leading cowboy as a star of the screen chose to mount their daughter and her husband Gene Autry, a drama each, and a number of important actors as H. B. Warner, just how silly it is for married leading British thespian, Evalyn people to quarrel.

Knapp, former leading lady of George Arliss and Gene Autry, appeared as a reporter in "Mystery Woman," to grace the picture with perfect performances.

A single reel sport review, "Topnotchers," completes the program.

STRAND

Domestic life in the raw is the theme of the new comedy, "People Will Talk," which is at the Strand theatre today and tomorrow. Most thrilling of all sports, that of juggling and Mary Boland, put in starring roles in the production.

"People Will Talk," marks the fourth co-starring effort of the well-known combination — a combination which has gained ever greater popularity with each appearance after such hits as "Dinner at Eight," "The Pursuit of Happiness" and others of the same classification.

Once again they stage a hoodoo and reveal the time honored triangle, as a prearranged bout to show star of the screen chose to mount their daughter and her husband Gene Autry, a drama each, and a number of important actors as H. B. Warner, just how silly it is for married leading British thespian, Evalyn people to quarrel.

GREAT PLAINS WILL BECOME AGAIN FERTILE

Roosevelt Scientific Advisor Urges Meteorological Facts be Used

MINNEAPOLIS, June 27—More valuable than all the gold in the Klondike are a misplaced dredge facts buried in records at Washington, Dr. Isaiah Bowman, one of President Roosevelt's scientific advisors, told the American Association for the Advancement of Science last night.

The great drought areas will come back, he predicted, but unless the meteorological facts are dug out and used to map restoration moves will be risk of immense money and social losses.

UNIVERSITY HEAD

Dr. Bowman, a native of Waterloo, Ont., is president-elect of Johns Hopkins University, director of the American Geographical Society of New York, and a member of the science advisory board appointed by President Roosevelt.

He asked and commented on four questions:

How long will the drought last? Is it within the possibility that heavier rainfall in near certainly within "a few years"?

Was the west ever as dry as now? Possibly so, say the 30's. Rainfall records are lacking to make sure.

GREATEST DROUGHT

Is our climate getting drier? Tree rings show that the greatest drought in the last two centuries. Glaciers, still retreating, may make for drier climate in the future, but there is no certainty of that.

Have the great western plains been permanently damaged? Probably not so far, but they have a curious way of off-setting or ridiculing our prophecies. The big risks, Dr. Bowman said, are not natural but man.

While it may be said," he explained, "that God made the drought for ends of his own, it was man who caused the dust storms he did not have the right ends in view."

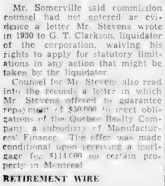

Endurance Fliers Fear Mechanical Defects Near

MERIDIAN, Miss., June 27—Fears that crystallization of vital units of their motor might suddenly end their endurance flight with a new world's record almost within grasp, harrassed Fred and Al Key, Meridian brothers, last night as they entered the final 24-hour stretch separating them from their seven-year-old ambition.

At 3:34 p.m. the weary fliers were exactly 24 hours short of a new world endurance mark and the expiration of their "stretch drive" was beginning to fall.

While both appeared optimistic over their chances of shattering the official mark of 553 hours, 41 minutes and 30 seconds set by the Hunter brothers of Chicago four years ago, they were fearful of some mishap

FLOODS TAKE SPOTS WHERE ARIDITY RULED

Three Dead, and Extensive Damage in Late Dust Bowl

DES MOINES, Iowa, June 27.—The middle western United States, burned by drought and choked by dust last year, last night counted fatalities and extensive crop and property damage from torrential rain.

Flood waters swirled in Iowa and Missouri. Downpours ranging up to three inches fell in Kansas. General rains saturated the midwest. Three dead were counted in the toll.

Harvest and planting delays caused by excessive precipitation swept grain prices upward on the Chicago market. There the situation was termed "alarming."

A raging creek snatched away Bobby Johnson, six, and Rosanna Holland, seven, from under a bridge near Lousiana, Mo. They drowned. Edward Herrald, 20-year-old farm hand, drowned while swimming in a flooded creek near Fort Dodge, Iowa.

FAIR, WARM IS FORECAST

Fair and warm weather is forecast for Thursday and Friday throughout Alberta.

Good news at last. After a two weeks' steady forecast of "cool and scattered showers" which have come down with concentrated fury on occasions, the prospect is for fair and warm. "Heil" and again "heil."

The highest mark touched on Wednesday was 74, and the lowest at 3 a.m. Thursday, was 49. Wednesday's mean temperature was 61.5, while that of the corresponding day of 1934 was 56.

On Friday the sun will rise at 4:07 a.m. and set at 9:07 p.m.

At midnight the temperature was 54 and hourly readings until 9 a.m. were 53, 51, 49, 50, 50, 50, 55, 61, 66.

More than 10,000,000 persons attended big league baseball games during the 1931 season, admissions averaging 95 cents.

Broomhall

CHICAGO, June 27.—Cash wheat premiums in Canada are being lowered occasionally and importers can now buy No. 2 Manitoba wheat from Vancouver at 13c over Argentine, while English millers can buy it at 7c premium due to the 6c duty on Argentine wheat. Atlantic spreads are a little wider. The spread between empire and non-empire wheat is narrowing continually. On June 26, No. 2 Man Atlantic was 88c, Australian 81c and RosaFe 72c against January 1 quotations of 94½, 71¾, and 64¾c respectively. Although there may not be much advantage for the continent to take the better grades of Canadian wheat, it certainly looks as though English millers would be benefitted by increasing their grindings of Manitobas at the present difference of 7 to 10c a bushel in place of the weaker foreign wheats. Australia and the Argentine are not likely to offer freely until general rains are received. Reserves are small for so early in the season and private cables report dryness in Cordoba, SantaFe and the Pampa in the Argentine, and in Victoria and New South Wales in Australia.

Cattle continues to be slow on the market today, trading was dull, and the buyers were bearish in their attitudes particularly on the grass-fed kinds. Sales up till noon seemed to indicate the market in an unstable condition with prices tending lower.

AGRIC PARLEY TO END TODAY

Fifteenth annual convention of the Canadian Society of Technical Agriculturists, in session at the University of Alberta since Monday, will be concluded Thursday afternoon. Many of Canada's outstanding scientific agriculturists have been attending the meet.

Out-of-town delegates are leaving Friday morning on a tour of the south of the province. Stops will be made at the dominion experimental station at Lacombe and the Olds School of Agriculture before Calgary is reached. Members of the southern C.S.T.A. local have arranged return transportation for those of the delegates who wish to visit Turner Valley, High River and Waterton Lakes.

Many of the distinguished visitors journeyed to Jasper Park last week-end.

The present convention marked the second time the C.S.T.A. has met in Edmonton in 10 years.

After the first breeding season both the male and female eel die. Approximately 10,000,000 eggs are produced in a breeding season.

SHARES CHANGE HANDS FREELY ON MINE MART

TORONTO, June 27.—Shares changed hands more freely on the mining section of the Toronto Exchange today without the average of prices pointing very definitely in either direction.

Boys With Rifle To Face Charge

Young boys having target practice with a .22 rifle in a disused garage will appear shortly in juvenile court as result of a bullet that went wild, Wednesday.

Lorin Brower, 10315 115 street, stated that a bullet from this garage, at the rear of his house, crashed through the bedroom window at the back of his house, continued through a hallway, struck another bedroom door which was opened and glanced into the bedroom.

His little daughter had just left this bedroom two minutes before, he said.

RESISTANCE ON STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, June 27.—The stock market showed quiet resistance today to a sharp break in the domestic copper price and the decision of another railroad to seek reorganization under federal bankruptcy laws.

A sprinkling of oil, glass, copper and rail shares lost 1½ to 3 points, but the bulk of the list was barely changed. A few industrials closed fractionally higher. The close was irregular. Sales approximated 750,000 shares.

WHEAT DROPS LOWER AFTER DULL SESSION

WINNIPEG, June 27.—Lack of foreign demand for Canada's wheat continued to restrict speculative operations on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange today. After a dull session, values closed ⅜-¼ cent lower, July at 81⅛ and August 82 cents.

Chicago, reacting from yesterday's two-cent advance, was easy today, off a cent at one time. Liverpool closed ⅜d lower to ⅛d higher. Buenos Aires held unchanged at noon.

Argentina, it was forecast, would export 3,000,000 bushels of wheat this week, compared to approximately 2,000,000 last week. Black Sea ports cleared 350,000 bushels, against the previous week's exports of 750,000 bushels.

Happy That Judge Says He May Play, Alabama Attends Game.

PATS and PANS by BILL LEWIS

There was little else talked yesterday in Edmonton's sportive spots than the result of the Joe Louis-Primo Carnera battle on Tuesday night . . . Boxing followers and sports enthusiasts generally were highly pleased that the negro youngster from Detroit had fared so well in the biggest chance of his short professional career . . . He had done exactly what most fans had expected he would do—and did it in a fashion they wanted him to do it.

More than anything, they were pleased the victory assured him of a bout with Max Baer, until recently holder of the heavyweight championship . . . Many of the folks figure the Brown Bomber from Detroit, in spite of his youth, can whip the Livermore Larruper and are glad the two are matched for a go in the fall.

If ever a non-title bout draws a crowd, you can wager it will be this meeting of the young negro and the movie-actor ex-champion.

Two fighters with the personalities and the ability of these two scrappers are bound to have the customers positively burning out the bearings in the turnstiles.

Speaking of fighters, Edmonton's Eddie Wenstob had the toughest set of breaks Tuesday night in England when he was disqualified in the ninth round of a bout that might have given him the British light-heavyweight crown . . . One of the most popular battlers in the Old Country since going over there, Wenstob walloped Eddie Phillips the title-holder, after the bell had ordered to end the ninth round and the referee immediately awarded the fight to the champ.

If that's not the hardest kind of luck for a young scrapper in his first title chance, it will do until something else comes along . . . Meanwhile, he's got another crack at the crown Phillips holds.

Rated one of the most powerful Alberta baseball squads that has appeared here in a long, long time, Ponoka's crack nine comes tonight for a Northern League game against Clint Hodge's runners . . . With an unbeaten record this spring, Ponoka added another string to its bow when it whipped Wetaskiwin's strengthened club —which now includes Ike Davis and a couple of Edmonton players, by a margin of 16-7 . . . That, in itself, is an indication of the power possessed by the squad gathered together by Ponoka this year and it is expected they will give a great performance when they make their first Edmonton appearance this evening.

Golfers, like everyone else, will be glad of a little sunshine for the next few days as it will help put the Highlands course in the best kind of shape for match play on the Calgary tournament over the coming weekend.

Carnera Offered Wrestling Bout

LOS ANGELES, June 27. — Lou Daro, Los Angeles promoter, last night said he had wired Primo Carnera, ring victim of Joe Louis, an offer of $10,000 to meet Mat Mountain Dean in a wrestling match here in Wrigley Field.

Midget Soccer

Riverside Rangers defeated Maple Leafs at Beverly Grounds Wednesday in one of the best displays of combination football witnessed by the fans this season. Both teams put up a great battle for victory, the score of five goals to nil in favor of the Rangers being no indication of the play. The scorers for the Rangers were A. Neysome, 2; G. Methven, 1; Dave Methven, 1; A. McCormack, 1. This game gave the Rangers possession of the J. McNeil Cup.

CADOMIN PLANS TENNIS TOURNEY

CADOMIN, June 27.—Revival of tennis on the Alberta coal branch will be climaxed by open tournament to be held at Cadomin June 30 and July 1, the first of its kind since 1928. Entries to date would indicate keen interest in this year's tournament, with tennis players from Jasper, Edson and all points along the coal branch, with Luscar strongly represented.

The local talent is determined to retain their laurels won in bygone competition; every hour of the day or evening, weather permitting, sees the racquet wielders getting themselves ready for the coming week-end. Ladies' and gents' singles and doubles will be included, play commencing June 30 at 11 a.m., entries closing Friday night, June 28.

School sports will start on Friday, June 28, and general sports on June 29, with fine, hundred dollars in prizes. A dance on the evening of June 29 with the Native Sons big dance play-boys will close one of the most ambitious week-ends the Cadomin people have tried for several years.

John Whitehead Man Of Few Words

White Sox Star Attends Only To Business

By BILL BRAUCHER

John Henderson Whitehead of the White Sox, like Dizzy Dean of the Cardinals, came to the majors from the Texas League, cradle of many great major league pitchers.

But John and Dizzy are equipped with different attachments. The Dizzy model comes wired for sound. Whitehead is noiseless. Since the season started John Whitehead of the Bonham, Texas, Whiteheads, hasn't spoken three words that weren't absolutely essential.

THAT BOWLING MISTAKE

But Whitehead can pitch. He started as if he meant to finish the season undefeated. His six straight victories helped to keep the surprising Sox on top during the early weeks of the pennant race. Then in mid-May in Boston he bogged down and started issuing bases on balls in the ninth inning. Manager Jimmy Dykes took him out and sent in White Wyatt, who saved the day.

After the game Dykes investigated and after grilling the strong silent man from Texas, discovered his star recruit had spent the previous evening bowling (for the first time in his life), with the result he was partly paralyzed from the waist down on his right side.

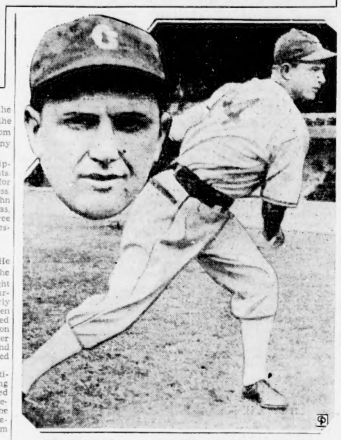

Now Whitehead has promised to do his bowling in winter when he goes to town on Saturday night from his cotton farm. The 25-year old sensation of the American League, who had won nine games as midseason neared, against one defeat, was born at Coleman, Tex., and grew up on a farm near the town of Hector.

John's father had been a semi-pro catcher, and encouraged the boy as a pitcher. Young Whitehead has an ideal build for a baseball pitcher, two, 195 pounds. He was pitching semi-pro four years ago at Wolf City when Joe Page, the old pitcher, offered to get him a trial at Dallas.

HAS LOTS OF STUFF

Whitehead's stuff—a fine fast ball, a sinker and a good curve—proved effective in the Texas League. In three years he won 46 and lost 29. He was his club's earned run average last year that attracted Sox scouts scouring the southern burgs for likely talent.

The taciturn Texan doesn't talk much about himself. After hours in the clubhouse inquiring gentlemen of the press have managed to discover he likes soccer, basketball, golf and hunting, and believes in peace and golden silence. He has a wife and two little boys, five and seven years old, and, like that other illustrious Texas League alumnus, J. H. Dean, thinks his fast ball is his most effective pitch.

John Whitehead . . . strong silent man of the White Sox.

Kip Anderson, who flings his elusive offerings from the portside is the choice to do Bushers' mound duties. Anderson has been doing right well in Busher livery and to give Ponoka its first defeat is a hope Anderson is secreting.

Golf Facts..

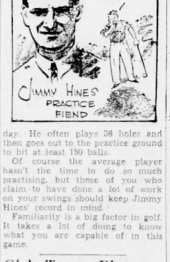

NOT THEORIES

By ALEX. J. MORRISON

Young Jimmy Hines of Garden City, Long Island, ranks well up among our promising newcomers.

Hines has set the pace for many a fast field. He drives a long ball and is one of the few who have acquired a smooth putting stroke. His scores are lower each year and his game gets better all the time.

He practices by the hour. It is nothing for him to hit 400 shots a day. He often plays 36 holes and then goes out to the practice ground to hit at least 150 balls.

Of course the average player hasn't the time to do so much practising, but those of you who claim to have done a lot of work on your swings should keep Jimmy Hines' record in mind.

Familiarity is a big factor in golf. It takes a lot of doing to know what you are capable of in this game.

Girls Teams Play Scheduled Clash At Boyle Tonight

Second place berth in the City Girls' Baseball League will be at stake this evening when the Army and Navy girls and the E.C.D. nine comes to grips in a scheduled encounter at the Boyle Street sandlot commencing at 6:30.

In their last two meetings the Army and Navy club have came out of the conflict with the winning verdict and they are anxious to make it three in a row over their bitter opponents.

The milk merchants feel certain however that they will be able to score revenge for the setbacks and will be out there fighting to do so. Both clubs are well balanced and a real battle is looked forward to.

LOUIS' NEXT SHOT IS ONE MAXIE BOYS

Baer Not So Sure That He Will Be Ready By September

By EDWARD J. NEIL

NEW YORK, June 27.—Next test for slugging Joe Louis, the big boy of years ago, Negro fighters, will be either Max Schmeling or Max Baer —and it's to be a question of first come first served with the prospect of a $750,000 gate no matter which one draws the assignment.

Mike Jacobs, promoter of Louis' crushing six-round victory over massive Primo Carnera before 57,000 persons in the Yankee Stadium Tuesday night, put it just that way yesterday as the 21-year-old negro, 944,636.16 added to his bankroll, listened to nothing but songs of his greatness.

Baer, who said he would fight Louis in September, wasn't so sure yesterday and with his manager, Arell Hoffman, spent considerable time and worry about the condition of his hands, injured when he lost his heavyweight title to Jimmy Braddock two weeks ago. Baer talked of the necessity of an operation that would put him on the shelf for the rest of the season.

He seemed tremendously impressed with the hitting powers of the young negro.

Joe Jacobs, manager of Schmeling, booked passage Friday on the Europa for Germany, confident the former heavyweight champion would return with him immediately after his match with Pauling Uzcudun in Berlin July 7.

ANNUAL BALL TOURNEY HELD AT BARRHEAD

Four Popular District Teams Give Fine Entertainment

BARRHEAD, June 27—The annual baseball tournament on Friday, June 21, was played under perfect conditions and went over without a hitch. The four teams in the Northern Alberta league furnished the entertainment.

In the first game the home team romped home with a 16 to 7 score over Manola. Pibroch and Westlock supplied the attraction in the afternoon and gave the fans full value for their money in a 12-inning contest. It was anybody's game till the finish and Westlock came from behind and nosed out by one on a 10-9 score.

Pitching classy ball in the final, Charlie Fluet struck out 10 of the 25 batters who faced him in the first seven innings and the betting was in favor of Barrhead with a 4-0 score. But in the eighth and ninth things went hay-wire and Westlock helped themselves to six precious counters while the best the home team could do was to annex one, leaving them on the wrong side of a 6-5 tally. It was a game to watch and hard one for the home team to lose.

The games were umpired by J. Gosche of Clyde.

Wetaskiwin Has Strong Lineup But Fails To Outhit Thunder Bats of Ponoka Squad

PONOKA, June 27.—Ponoka's thundering bats smashed Wetaskiwin's strengthened squad here with a sweeping 16-7 victory last night in a scheduled game of the Northern Baseball league that drew one of the biggest crowds of the season. This win was Ponoka's twelfth without a defeat and leaves them perched at the top of the league standing.

With Ike Davis at shortstop, Anderson catching and Webber in the outfield, Wetaskiwin presented their strongest line up of the season to date, but the Californians, although hitting hard, were unable to head off the Ponoka batting attack. Myers was again the outstanding hitter for Ponoka with four two baggers in five trips to the plate. Butler also came through with a pair of doubles and Baer and Crellin each contributed another two base hit.

HITTING FEATURES GAME

While heavy hitting featured the game, the home runs by Anderson and Webber of Wetaskiwin were mighty blows clean out of the park over centre field fence. Butler got Ponoka's lone home run when he drove the ball over the centre field fence for the third time during the game in the eighth inning. Webber's home run was probably the longest hit ever made in the Ponoka park with the exception of one blow that Jack Starkey delivered back in the days of the old Western Canada League.

Both pitchers were in hot water almost from the first with rather wobbly support behind each. Baer however kept his hits more scattered than did Johnson of Wetaskiwin and had better support in the pinches.

PONOKA WON IN FIFTH

It was not until the fifth inning, when Ponoka had scored four runs, to boom that the home fans began to relax. In this frame Ponoka batters got five runs. Again in the eighth they came through with another five run rally and definitely routed Wetaskiwin's hopes.

The invaders' one big inning was the fourth when they got four runs across the rubber as Ponoka wobbled momentarily and Baer was socked for four hits.

Despite this trouncing, manager Ike Davis has some powerful material for the Wetaskiwin team among his imports from California and future games will find his ex-hurler hard to get over.

N. EDMONTON OUT TO HALT GRITS FRIDAY

Northenders Seeking Win Junior Ball Clash At Boyle St.

Weather permitting, and it has done everything else but that to the Junior Baseball League these past few days, North Edmonton will clash with Army and Navy Grits in a scheduled game at Boyle Street, Friday evening.

Having more than four games rained out during the past week and a half, the junior teams anxiously await the balmy baseball weather for Friday's game.

Although the teams have been inactive in league games, they have kept up their practice seasons and both will be fielding their best lineups.

With a triumph North Edmonton can tie up leadership in the league with the Grits and Safeways. They hope to do just that.

Hicks - Didrikson Win Easy Matches

CHICAGO, June 27. — The two working girls of United States golf, smiling Helen Hicks of Hewlett, L.I., and Mildred "Babe" Didrikson, famous girl athlete of Beaumont, Tex., did not even have to finish their 18-hole matches today to advance to the quarter-finals of the women's western open golf championship.

Miss Hicks, winner of the 1931 United States championship, disposed of Miss Lucile Robinson, Des Moines, Ia., 4 and 3, while Miss Didrikson, despite a sleepless night spent under physician's care, eliminated Mrs. Lawrence Selz, Chicago, the former Jane Weiller and winner of the event three years ago, 8 and 6.

EMPIRE CREW WINS BALL TILT AGAINST YORKERS

JOEY RACES TO POPULAR WIN AT 'PEG

Western Bred Once Again Shows Superiority Over Poor Track

WINNIPEG, June 27—Once again Joey demonstrated his superiority over the balance of the native bred horses on the circuit and once again he displayed his gameness in the face of the most trying conditions a thoroughbred could meet.

On a racing strip that was deep and holding from continuous rains, the classy owned horse fought his way from seventh position at the half way mark of the mile and seventy yards race to be two lengths back of the leader in the stretch and then continue on with his 126 lbs. and win by six lengths.

The aftermath of the race was possibly even more thrilling than the race itself. Fully half the crowd attempted to get to the paddling ring as Joey came back victorious. They cheered the game little thoroughbred, they cheered Jockey Palasz and congratulated Owner Jacques. The betting end of racing was for the time forgotten and a better side of the sport showed itself.

FOUGHT FOR TRIUMPH

Ruby Stone took the lead as they left the stalls and set the pace with a two-length lead which she held until entering the back of the stretch and she was passed by the winner. Help Yourself was running second nearly all the way, but he failed to carry his 121 lbs. when the drive came and through the last six-teenth of a mile he was floundering badly to finish sixth. Marcus Doolie closed with a rush to snatch second money in the last stride from the tiring Ruby Stone.

Joey duplicated Help Yourself's feat of the last two years in winning both the Speers Handicap at Whittier Park and today's Western Canada Handicap. These two events are the outstanding races of the Spring season here. Owner Jacques gets richer to the tune of $1,315 by Joey's victory today. Joey is still unbeaten this year having won all of the five times he has played no small part in the win. He waited with the son of Dr. Joe for fully five furlongs before making the winning move and then brought him up slowly but surely without any urging to overhaul the horse at all. It was a perfect ride.

DAILY DOUBLE BIG

Captain Harrison's Pensweep and Billy Baker combined to carry Dunrodo in the daily double. Both horses won easily.

Gallant on Just Mrs. in the sixth caught Birkley napping aboard Dunrodo in the last seventy yards and got a nose decision. Dunrodo appeared to have the race won midway in the stretch.

Olive D. and Reservation were a half length apart in the seventh and paid $17.35 to the quinella. The Bard was in front in the stretch but tired nearing the finish.

Historic Block Will Disappear

REGINA, June 27.—A structure linking Regina to the frontier days is to be demolished to make way for the new $400,000 Customs building.

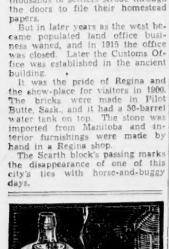

The Scarth block, corner of Victoria and Scarth streets, has witnessed exciting moments in the early history of the west. The first building on this site was erected in 1882 and was known as the Court House for a number of years. Here Louis Riel, the prairie rebel, heard the death sentence pronounced.

In 1896 the building was set on fire, and in the plan the Dominion Land Office was built in 1899. Here many a land-seeker placed his first legal claim to the bonding homestead of the west. From the dawn of the century to the war, through the years when the prairie west thousands of settlers strode through the doors to file their homestead papers.

But in later years as the west became populated land office business waned, and in 1915 the office was closed. Later the Customs Office was established in the ancient building.

It was the pride of Regina and the show piece for visitors in 1906. The bricks were made in Pilot Butte, Sask., and it had a 50-barrel water tank on top. The stone was imported from Manitoba and interior furnishings were made by hand in a Regina shop.

The Scarth block's passing marks the disappearance of one of this city's ties with horse-and-buggy days.

Relief Workers Unearth Relics

MONTREAL, June 24.—Archaeologists among this city's single unemployed may find work to their liking at the relief camp operated by the government on the banks of the Richelieu river near St. Johns Que., military camp. Relief workers at the camp have unearthed a hitherto unknown cemetery, several skeletons and other historical relics while they were at work in the basement of the century-old military barracks.

The 106 men at the camp, which was started in 1933, are employed on improving roads in the camp grounds and in the neighborhood at 20 cents a day. Since the beginning of the work through work has been done by the men. Sewers, protecting walls on the river front, grading the camp roads, work around the officers' quarters, construction of houses for soldiers stationed permanently at the camp, and many other tasks are included in the work that the men are doing.

Police Had Pity On Gold Hoarder

NEW YORK, June 27.—Henry Rodney, of the United States secret service, called upon Mrs. Charles F. Crane, 68, who lives with her only employed husband on the fourth floor of a rooming house and took from her $80 in gold and gold certificates. He returned $10 gold pieces which her mother had given to her as a child.

The operative went to the little flat prepared to make an arrest under the president's law forbidding gold hoarding. When he saw Mrs. Crane's pitiful plight and was convinced that she had meant no harm, he took the child's gold money and gave her a receipt for it, telling her to call at the customs house to get an equivalent amount of cash in current currency.

COMMENTS

Benefits for injured players are not common in Softball so it is noteworthy that the South Side section had a most successful one last night both in the amount collected for a worthy cause and also for the excellent brand of ball displayed. An all star aggregation from the three intermediate teams playing the South Side league opposed the senior Strathcona Hotel with the latter taking the high end of an 8-3 count. A big crowd was on hand to grace the occasion and Fred Mann had the grounds groomed to perfection for the start. Kalensky pitched nice ball, being teamed up with White as catcher for a change but the 'Stars' used the batteries of the other three teams in turn for three innings each. Ritchie and Sebastin of Kent Miners started, Bassinger and Aldridge of Hooper's Drug followed and Roberts and Vaughan of South Side Athletics wound up at the finish.

The game was closer than indicated by the score as four of the seniors' runs came in on overthrows. As a community project as well as a ball game the affair was a complete success and the boys are to be congratulated on their efforts. They wish to thank all those who helped by playing or contributing to the benefit fund. Four officials were on hand to call the decisions but they had an easy time. Herb and Bob Coxford, Cliff Sherwin and Al Horner were the quartet.

Four X took it on the nose in one game of a double header over the last week end, to mark up their first loss. Monarchs did the trick and nearly repeated in the second game.

Recreations win puts them way out in front in the junior league race and Pappas also contributed one with empty bases.

Tonight's games on the Golf Links and Victoria high school fields had to be postponed because of wet ground.

THURSDAY'S GAMES

Del Sarto vs. 61st and 13th at Golf Links at 6:30.

Ruppert Brewery Criterion Service at Golf Links at 7:30.

Trudeaus vs. Imperial Oil at Rossdale.

Snowflake Laundry vs. Avenue News.

Game scheduled for Thursday on South Side Athletic Grounds, Athletics and Miners is set over to Friday at King Edward Park.

Slot Machines For Bouquets New Idea

The prevalent custom in Germany of buying flowers on paying a visit is likely to make this innovation a practical success.

McMillan's Single Late In Game Wins For Empire By 5-3

Ralph Morgan And Steve Elaschuk Feature In Hurling Duel

Blasting out a driving single deep into left field with two men aboard, Jack McMillan, towering first baseman of the league leading Empire Hotel nine, gave his mates a 5-3 victory over the York Hotel club in their encounter of the Big Four Baseball League at Boyle Street Wednesday evening.

McMillan's timely bingle not only won the game for his mates but broke up a closely contested 10-inning pitching duel between Ralph Morgan of the winners and Steve Elaschuck which was the feature event of a well played affair.

GOOD ATTENDANCE

The game, which attracted some 1300 baseball followers, was of the up and tuck variety throughout and the outcome was in doubt all the way, both clubs showing their best performance of the season.

Empires introduced a member of the junior ranks in their livery Wednesday evening in the person of Ralph Morgan, ace twirler on the Safeways' pitching corps.

Morgan twirled masterfully in his debut in the Big Four company, restricting his opponents to seven scattered hits and striking out 13 fuzzy-cheeked batsmen. He was, however, given brilliant support by his team mates, who turned in errorless ball behind his steady pitching. It was the first perfect fielding performance recorded in the league this season. The York club made two errors.

ELASCHUCK GOOD

The Safeways junior flinger was opposed in the mound duel by Steve Elaschuck, a graduate from the junior ranks last season, where he performed with the Arrow Busses, and Elaschuck waged a nip and tuck battle with his opponent before McMillan shattered his hopes of victory with the fatal single in the 10th inning. Steve whipped seven batters and allowed but seven hits. But sad to relate his teammates managed to get them when they counted most.

The Yorkers broke out in front on the second inning but have their opponents wrest the lead from them. Elaschuck gave his mates their first taste of actual runs when he raced around the runways after slapping out a single to left field.

A three-base blow to right field by Denny Hague and a single to second by Pete Yarmoluk gave the Empires the tying run, but Lloyd's single to centre and Elaschuck's two-bagger placed the Yorkers in front again. Timely hits by Green and Elaschuck tied the count for the second time in the sixth inning and they went out in front in the seventh when they managed to score another run. The Yorkers rallied to tie the count in the eighth inning but failed to score in the inning.

There were two men down and another two on base when McMillan rapped out his winning blow in the 10th. The sacker had struck at two wild balls but had stepped into the third offering as the ball came down the groove, sending it deep into the left pasture, enabling his mates to romp home. It was a well planned hit and McMillan was applauded with no little response.

Bill Green and Steve Elaschuck were the leading hitters of the day. Green getting two for three and Elaschuck connecting with three in five.

RADIALS ARE GIVEN BATTLE BY ST. PATS

Railwaymen Blaze Way To Sixth Straight Win By 3-0 Decision

Turning in their most impressive performance of the season, the St. Pats soccer eleven gave the league leading Radials a bitter battle before they dropped a 3-0 decision in their fixture of the Edmonton and District Football league at Diamond Park Wednesday evening.

The victory which was the Railwaymen's sixth straight increased their lead to three full games over the second place Cadets.

Greeted by a good following of the soccer fraternity, the teams responded with the best performance that has been witnessed in the league this season. From the kick-off until the final whistle had indicated cessation of play the teams love at each other with all their might and their was not a great deal of difference between the clubs in the line.

PATS BATTLED WELL

The showing of the St. Pats was a feature of the game, rated as the under dog of the league due to their position at the bottom of the loop the youthful eleven looked anything like a cellar place team last night and they gave the pace setters their closest game of this season.

Radials had a marked edge in their scoring ability and they capitalized on this to the utmost their win. St. Pats had many scoring chances throughout but just failed to carry the ball through to the goal mouth. The loser's net that played a prominent part in keeping the Radial shutout intact in both halves and time again they bore in on him only to have their efforts turned back.

JOHNSON BROKE IT

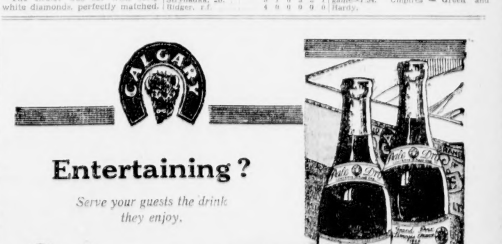

The teams battled through fully 20 minutes of the first half before Johnson broke the ice and gave the Radials in the lead when he tallied on a lone effort.

Shortly after one of the cleverest opportunists in the city was the star of the game, scoring all three of his team's goals. He tallied twice in the first session and twice in the last.

His second goal came after seven minutes of play in the second half had elapsed when he scored on a penalty and his third was registered shortly afterwards.

Ferguson in the nets, Murdoch, Wynn and Johnston effectively shone for the St. Pats, while Hoyles, Ness, McLean, J. Graham and Johnson did the best for the winners.

Cadets Urge Navy Policy

TRAINING NO GOOD WITHOUT SEA POWER

Toronto Conference to Ask Definite Building-Up For Canada

TORONTO, Ont., June 27 — "Sea cadet training is good, but without sea power is a waste of time and money," Sam Harris, president of the Navy League of Canada, told the annual meeting of the Dominion Council Wednesday, as it was announced the council would discuss a resolution favoring a policy of Empire naval defence. The resolution will be introduced today.

COSTLY INDIFFERENCE

"We are liable to pay a great price for our indifference," he said, claiming that in Canada "we are taking liberty for granted without thought of what is going on around us, with all the principles for peace overthrown, with armaments larger and more deadly than ever in the history of the world."

The resolution to be introduced would place the league as favoring a "naval policy for Canada which will have regard to the needs of the whole British Empire and in deciding upon such a policy, political exigencies should be disregarded and the opinion of the most eminent naval strategists alone considered."

NOW 14,000 CADETS

Approximately 14,000 cadets between the ages of 14 and 18 are enrolled in the training corps of the Navy League of Canada, it was reported.

Saskatchewan is not represented at the meeting. Delegates from other provinces are: Admiral W. O. Storey, British Columbia; Major G. Mackie, Alberta; H. E. Tamkin, Manitoba and John Goodwin, Ontario.

AGRICS END CONFERENCE ON THURSDAY

other important agricultural problem in the open plains and cereal productions and summerfallow in cycles of two to three years he will be found the best course.

Physical reserves in the form of seed and fodder should be built up in dry territories. Groups of farmers might combine to operate such a scheme, the minister said.

BAN CARELESS SPENDING

Building up of financial reserves by farmers living in areas of uncertain production is an individual problem but propensity of farmers in years past to spend money as quick as they made it should be combatted.

Most promising correction for drouth in Saskatchewan, I believe, is extensive use of summerfallow," said Mr. Taggart, in summing up possible corrective steps.

Wednesday afternoon's session, dealing with the drouth problem, was characterized by Chairman Dean Howes as "one of the most important sessions of the four-day gathering of distinguished agricultural men."

Outlining methods employed by the federal government to combat drouth in the prairie provinces, Dr. F. S. Archibald, Ottawa, director of Dominion experimental farms, declared that agricultural difficulties of the prairie provinces are of the utmost importance to the remainder of Canada.

Fifty-six millionths of the Dominion's 73 millions of wheat acreage is in the western provinces as is 33 million acres of the country's 39 million acres of grassland.

FEDERAL AID

"The federal government is vitally interested in the problem of the west," said Dr. Archibald.

A sum of $1,000,000 has been set aside for a period of four years by the Dominion government to be spent on any plan of fact finding type of assistance directed toward farmer benefit. Operating under the act, an advisory committee has been established, composed of representatives of governments and institutions vitally interested in the drouth problem.

Duty of the committee is to collect and clarify facts for presentation to the federal ministry of agriculture. The organization also serves as a central agency in assuring the co-operation of different parties working on the problem.

SOIL DRIFT PROBES

Engineering and soil drifting committees have been established. Local stations have been set up in affected areas to provide experimental centres. These have proved almost invaluable to the dominion government, asserted Dr. Archibald.

Provision has been made for examination of soils of abandoned areas in universities throughout the country. Experimentation is being thoroughly conducted on seed and weed conditions affecting drouth regions.

Lack of moisture in southern Saskatchewan last year provided an admirable opportunity for testing effect of tree shelters on moisture conditions with this fact in mind federal workers are working on tree planting projects.

"Basis of practically all sponsored anti-drouth battle has been co-operative effort by all agencies concerned," said the minister. "Purpose has been to collect facts and to make them available to provincial authorities interested in the problem. Ambition of dominion organization on drouth is to get reliable information and to be useful."

Complete concurrence with Mr. Taggart's appraisal of the situation in Saskatchewan was voiced by Dr. Archibald.

Reports of studies by provincial committees of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta disclosed technical knowledge of the subject. Leading parts in the discussion were taken by E. S. Hopkins, J. Mitchell, Prof. J. Macgregor Smith, Dr. F. A. Wyatt, and L. B. Thompson.

VISIT TO MUSEUM

Convention attendants and their wives, following the Wednesday afternoon session, were guests of the Alberta department of agriculture on visits to the Father Lacombe museum at St. Albert and the provincial experimental farm at Oliver.

Dr. J. M. Swaine, director of research in the dominion department of agriculture, Ottawa, is to address final session of the society on Convocation hall Thursday afternoon. Other matters on the concluding agenda are conclusion of the C.S.T.A. business and general conclusion of correspondence and connected matters.

Continuation of papers not previously completed and additional papers contributed by Guelph, Vineland, and Summerland stations will occupy final session of the Horticultural Group of the C.S.T.A. Thursday morning. A business meeting is also on the agenda.

MANY VITAL PAPERS

Presentation of papers will be continued at a Thursday morning meeting of the Phytopathological Society. Papers were given Wednesday morning by Dr. W. C. Broadfoot, Edmonton; Dr. P. M. Simmonds, Saskatoon; Dr. W. L. Gordon, Winnipeg; Dr. W. A. Hendry, Edmonton, and W. A. F. Hagborg, Winnipeg.

Recent revision in marketing policies and practices were dealt with at the Thursday meeting of the section of the Society of Agricultural Economics. Speakers were C. H. Davidson, B. N. Anwyll, H. C. Bois, H. R. Hare, C. V. Parker, and F. E. Lattimore.

At a Society of Animal Production meet Thursday morning, T. P. Hilton and F. M. Baker, spoke. Committee reports were given and unfinished business completed.

Dr. F. A. Wyatt, Dr. W. H. Ellis, O. G. Caldwell, and H. Newnham, W. J. Jacobson, E. E. Eisenhauer and J. E. Kirk spoke.

Seek Prospectors By Airplanes

TIMMINS, Ont., June 27—Mining since May, two prospectors Wednesday were being sought by search parties over the specially-settled Chibougamou area, north of here. The two men were flown north of the Transcontinental railway line during the latter part of May to search for gold.

When the plane returned to the prospectors' camp three weeks later the place was deserted. The air search is being led by Duke Schuyler, noted northern pilot.

Seeks $250,000 For Lost Beauty

Eileen Wenzel, once Broadway's highest paid chorus girl (left), and object of the interest of Egypt's royal heir-apparent, is suing Louis Ehret, Jr. (inset), brewing fortune scion, for $250,000, alleging his carelessness in driving car was responsible for crash in which she was injured, leaving her so scarred (right), that she's unable to get a job.

SECRET URGE FOR CURRENCY STABILIZING

British, U.S., French Commerce Delegates Agree Upon Necessity

PARIS, June 27.—British, United States and French delegates to the International Chamber of Commerce convention here Wednesday agreed secretly to urge currency stabilization upon their governments. Three delegations concurred in the oft-asserted necessity for it as one of the indispensable preliminaries to world recovery.

A group headed by Edward A. Filene, Boston merchant, forced the American delegation to remove from one of its resolutions a clause favoring controlled production, contending the trouble was not with mass production but with inadequate distribution.

In the afternoon session Dr. Jacob Wilhelm Reichert, German cartel expert said voluntary cartels certainly do better than strong state control of world trade." The British delegation, however, voiced vigorous opposition to such a system.

Lutheran Church Unity Nearing

CLEVELAND, June 27.—Possibility of establishing organic unity among three of the largest branches of the Lutheran church came a step nearer realization Wednesday.

Representatives of the Missouri Synod of the Evangelical Lutheran church, meeting here, voted unanimously to choose a committee to study details of the plan with committee of the American Lutheran church and the United Lutheran church in America. The committee will report its findings to the synod at the next triennial meeting, spokesmen said.

Disease germs cannot live in the Antarctic region, which is perhaps the healthiest area on the face of the globe.

PIONEER OF WEST DIES AT WETASKIWIN

Edward J. Kelley Was a Prominent Farmer and Stockman

Pioneer of the Wetaskiwin district, where he has been a prominent farmer and stockman since 1893, Edward Joseph Kelley, 87, died at his home Tuesday.

Mr. Kelley pioneered the cattle business in Alberta and operated a successful trade with United States feeders until an embargo on Canadian cattle cut off this business.

BORN IN ONTARIO

Born near Bedford, Ontario, in 1848, Mr. Kelley moved west in 1873, settling in Minnesota, where he farmed and married Mary Magdalene Brogan, who predeceased him about a year ago.

First visiting Alberta in 1891, he returned in 1893 with his family, locating on the present home site at Wetaskiwin. Later he brought his parents from Ontario, both of whom reached the century mark before their death at Wetaskiwin.

Mr. Kelley brought in an exceptionally good outfit of farming equipment and stock, including the first Percheron stallion in the district, backed by a number of outstanding general purpose Percherons, which were used in freighting operations between Edmonton and Wetaskiwin.

OUTSTANDING FIGURE

Later, along with his farming operations, he became an extensive breeder of Percheron horses and Shorthorn cattle. In the hey-day of the cattle business, he was an outstanding figure and was one of the first to venture with a full train, carrying some 500 head, to the U. S. market. All of these were sold at feeders on arrival at St. Paul. The shipments were continued for a number of years to good advantage, until the interchange between western Canadian stockmen and American feeders was interrupted by an embargo, the turning point for the cattlemen.

He shipped a large number of shorthorn bulls to British Columbia ranchers and, by the time the feeder cattle trade had ended, he had extended his horse operations into Saskatchewan.

CHANGED TO HORSE-POWER

He is believed to have been instrumental in changing the ox-power to horse-power for farming operations in districts of Mackin, Primate, Denzil, Senlac and Evesham. Many farmers in these districts got their start in horses from the Kelley ranch.

Surviving him are his sons and daughters, Joseph, Noel and Tom at Hay Lakes; Edward J. Jr. and Mary of Edmonton; William, Wetaskiwin; Mrs. R. M. Sheppard, Stettler and Agnes, Los Angeles. Another son, James, predeceased him a few years ago.

The funeral will be held Friday at Wetaskiwin in the Roman Catholic church. Fr. MacDonald and Rev. Fr. Walraven, founder of the parish, will take charge.

Canada-Mexico Speed Flight On Friday

VANCOUVER, June 27 — Earl Ortman, Los Angeles speed pilot, arrived here Wednesday to prepare for an attempt on the Canada-to-Mexico airplane record. The California flier announced he would take off about noon Friday for Seattle where he will refuel, circle back over the airport here, then head south on his record-breaking attempt. He will make one stop in Sacramento, Calif., for refueling purposes.

Ortman had planned to leave on his flight shortly after arriving here, making his lone stop at Sacramento but was unable to obtain the necessary permission from United States custom authorities who ruled he must land here at Seattle after taking off from here.

Jimmy Mattern of New York holds the present record of five hours and 22 minutes for the flight made two years ago.

Peat Promoters Banquet Hosts

OTTAWA, June 27.—A complimentary dinner was given last night to senators and members of parliament by promoters of the proposal to have peat developed as a fuel in Canada by means of briquetting.

The project was endorsed by Hon. H. H. Stevens, former minister of trade and commerce. Others who spoke were Hon. Charles Stewart (W., Edmonton West), Hon. J. D. Chaplin (Cons., Lincoln), and Major Patrick J. Nolan, Ottawa.
